26 ARRESTED IN GAMBLING RAIDS

Slayer of Judge Awaits Date for His Execution

WARREN, Pa. (UP) — Norman Moon today awaited the setting of a date for his execution in Rockview Penitentiary's electric chair.

Warren County Judge Alexander C. Flick Jr. sentenced Moon Thursday after denying the former Connellsville electrician a new trial for the courtroom slaying of Judge Allison D. Wade. Moon, 30, heard the death sentence intoned before the same bullet-scarred bench where he cut down Judge Wade Jan. 13, 1954.

Judge Flick permitted a limited number of news photographers to take pictures of Moon from seats in the courtroom. It was believed the first time in Pennsylvania history that a defendant in a murder case was photographed by news photographers. The photographers were not permitted to move about and flash bulbs were banned.

Leader to Set Date

Warren County Sheriff L. E. Linder was to remove Moon to Rockview Penitentiary at Bellefonte. Defense Attorney Samuel D. Braemer did not indicate whether he would appeal the sentence to a higher court.

The execution date will be set by Gov. George M. Leader.

Judge Flick spoke personally to Moon after reading a 40-page opinion for two hours. The jurist agreed with Moon's attorney that "the day you met your wife, Janet Schwab, was the fateful day in your life."

Moon was appearing before Judge Wade on a non-support charge filed by his wife when the shooting took place. Part way through the hearing Moon whipped out a .45 caliber pistol and began firing.

'Nothing to Say'

"I urge you to cease refusing to look life in the face and admit you had taken the law into your own hands," Judge Flick told Moon. "God moves in many ways His wonders to perform."

The red-haired former Fayette County resident did not blink when Judge Flick sentenced him to death. None of his relatives were in the courtroom.

Before pronouncing sentence, Judge Flick asked Moon if he had anything to say.

In a calm voice Moon replied: "I have nothing to say."

In his summation, Judge Flick said it was "the opinion of the court, after careful consideration, with the assistance of three able lawyers that the defendant had had every right safeguarded and all points of law thoroughly covered. He had a competent and impartial jury and all elements of the evidence pointed to the first degree murder verdict as returned."

Photographers in Court to Take Pictures of Slayer

WARREN, Pa. (UP)— A judge permitted news photographers to take pictures in his courtroom Thursday as he sentenced a man to death for murder.

It was believed the first time news photographers were granted this privilege in a Pennsylvania court.

Judge Alexander C. Flick Jr. permitted a number of news photographers to sit in the courtroom and take pictures as he sentenced Norman Moon, 30, to death in the electric chair for the courtroom slaying of Judge Allison D. Wade.

Moon heard the sentence standing before the same bullet-scarred bench where he cut down Judge Wade on Jan. 13, 1954.

The photographers were not allowed to move about the courtroom, and flash bulbs were banned.

'Open to Public'

Judge Flick explained that he permitted the picture taking because "court proceedings are open to the public and the public should be informed as to what goes on."

"If photographers cause no disturbance by their presence in court, I think they should be allowed to take pictures," he said. "Pictures may convey a more accurate representation of a court proceeding than the written story of a reporter."

The jurist said he "found by experience" that limited numbers of press photographers taking pictures do not disrupt "the orderly

Novel Tag Day Here Tomorrow

The Eta Zeta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi will conduct a tag day tomorrow on the streets of Monessen for the March of Dimes.

Weather permitting the young women will employ a novel way of collecting contributions. They will stretch a tape from the corner of Fifth street to Sixth street on Donner avenue and ask each person to place the dimes on the tape.

Regardless of the weather the sorority members will be on the street to receive contributions for the fight on polio.

Gillespie Woman Is Killed

A 70-year-old woman, Mrs. Jean G. Edmunds, of Gillespie, was struck and killed instantly about 6:55 last night by an automobile in front of her home on Route 711.

Mrs. Edmunds was pronounced dead-on-arrival at Charleroi-Monessen Hospital.

According to Deputy Coroner Howard McCrory, of Fayette County, the woman ran across the highway in front of a car operated by James Moats, 25, of Fayette City. She died instantly of a skull fracture and internal injuries.

Neighbors said Mrs. Edmunds had crossed the street to get mail from her mail box when she was struck down.

Born in Washington Township, Mrs. Edmunds was a member of the Church of Christ, of Fayette City.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Stephen (Ethel) Pivarnik, of Charleroi; Ruth at home; two sons, Clyde W. of San Bernardino, Calif. and Eugene Ward with the U. S. Army in France; two brothers, John and Robert Federer, of Huntington, W. Va.; two sisters, Mrs. Sam Greenlee and Mrs. George Guseman, both of Fayette City R. D. 1 and three grandchildren.

Friends will be received at the McCrory Funeral Home, Fayette City after 7:30 this evening. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Community Fund Has Reached 83 Per Cent of Goal

The Monessen Community Fund has reached 83 per cent of its $32,000 fund campaign for 1957, it was announced today by Edward Lhota, general chairman.

Thus far, $26,536.18 has been raised.

A special committee has been named by Lhota to call on those who have not as yet made their contributions or those who have not contributed their fair share during the campaign.

Named to that committee are Joseph Friedland, John Kotch, Jr., Norman Henderson, Frank Costa, Charles W. Hagerstrand, Fred Stockus and Mike Skirpan, Jr.

The latest report shows all classifications reported below quota.

The Business Division has raised $7,878 of its $10,200 quota.

Industry has raised $8,500 of its $9,500 goal.

Labor has raised $7,498.50 of its $9,000 goal Of this, $6,175 was raised at Pittsburgh Steel and $1,323.50 at Page Division, American Chain & Cable Co., Inc.

In the Professional Division, $587 was raised out of its $800 goal.

General contributions amounted to $2,072.68 out of a $2,500 goal.

WHERE THERE'S SMOKE THERE'S FIRE — The Fifth Avenue Smoke Shop at 475 Schoonmaker avenue, was one of the two alleged gambling establishments raided by State Police at 12:40 this morning. The other raid was at Grand Parlors at 467 Donner avenue. Police arrested a total of 26 persons. Card and dice games were in progress at the smoke shop when police broke in.

15-Man Detail Of State Police Hits Spots Here

A detail of 15 State Policemen invaded Monessen about 12:40 this morning and arrested 26 men in raids at two downtown gambling establishments.

Actually, the police visited four different places at the "zero" hour but two were closed. However, there was action galore at the other two places, the Fifth Avenue Smoke Shop at 475 Schoonmaker avenue and the Grand Parlors, 467 Donner avenue.

Monessen police were not notified of the raids and did not participate.

At the Smoke Shop, police arrested three men on charges of operating a gambling establishment and 17 on charges of visiting a gambling establishment.

At the Grand Parlors, one man was arrested for operating a gambling establishment and five were booked as visitors.

Called Operators

Albert Yuhas, 34, of Park Hotel, Monessen; Harold Zeidman, 39, of 314 Fallowfield avenue, Charleroi, and Gus Patronas, 67, of 313 Sixth street, Monessen, were arrested for operating a gambling game at the Smoke Shop. They were given a hearing before Alderman Marion Reamer, of Monessen, shortly after the raid and released after posting $1,000 bond each for appearance in criminal court.

Visitors at the Smoke Shop were listed as: John Vivio, Floyd Corsi, Mario Galuppo, Charles Zimmaro, Ralph Zingaro, John S. Galayda, A. J. Caterino, Sam Thomas, and Walter Waxman, all of Monessen: William J. Procaccini, Joseph Caruso and Andrew Nazzei, of Belle Vernon; Joseph Kostelansky, John Capovanic and James E. Elifanti, of Charleroi; Quinten Tonini, of Coal Center, and John Jones, of Yukon.

The visitors were released after posting forfeits of $10 each.

Peter Druash, 35, of 215 Schoonmaker avenue, was arrested as the operator of a gambling establishment at the Grand Parlors. He posted $1,000 bond.

Visitors at the Grand Parlors were booked as: John Luti, Charles Ellin and Joseph Alverez, Jr., all of Monessen, and John Cissel and R. A. Manerino, of Belle Vernon. They also posted forfeits of $10 each.

15 Policemen Used

Capt. Frank L. Garnow, commander of the State Police barracks at Washington, Pa., said six men from the Belle Vernon barracks and nine from other barracks in his squadron conducted the raids. He said they confiscated cards, dice, money and other paraphernalia at both places.

He said card and dice games were in progress at the Smoke Shop and a card game at the Parlors when police entered.

After making the raids, police called Alderman Reamer to the Smoke Shop to issue receipts to the visitors. The alleged operators appeared at the alderman's office for their preliminary hearing.

Irwin Sanes, local businessman, supplied the $1,000 bonds for

President's Plea For Price, Wage Increase Level

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower's plea for business and labor to go easy on price and wage hikes comes at a time when prices have been rising almost steadily for a year and wages are at a record level.

Government economists said there is a possibility that wage contract settlements this year may fall, more or less, within the President's formula for holding the line against inflation. They were more uncertain on the price outlook.

In his State of the Union Message Thursday Mr. Eisenhower called on business to avoid unnecessary price increases, particularly those induced solely by high demand and material shortages.

He called on labor to keep increases in wages and fringe benefits "reasonably related" to increases in productivity. Wage hikes that follow productivity—output per worker—do not cost management any money.

In the past year wholesale prices have risen 4.4 per cent and consumer prices 2.4 per cent, following several years of relative stability. That stability, however, was due largely to declining farm prices which offset price rises in other fields.

The initial and unofficial reaction of labor economists to Mr. Eisenhower's productivity formula for wage increases was a flat "no." They said he overlooked labor's fundamental point in bargaining: Where profit margins increase, wages should go up, regardless of productivity.

Steelworker Gains Outlined By USW Chief McDonald

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — President David J. McDonald of the United Steelworkers of America said today that starting next September USW members will be eligible for as much in unemployment benefits as they received for a full 40-hour work week 10 years ago.

In addition, McDonald told 1,000 representatives from USW districts in Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Maryland, retiring members will get more in their annual pensions than they received as wages for the entire year of 1936.

Outlining union gains at the second of a series of regional conferences, McDonald said the average steelworker in the lowest paying job classification has received a total of $3,707 in raises in the last four contract settlements. He said the common laborer wage rate rose from 47 cents an hour to approximately $2.00 per hour.

Number of 'Firsts'

The union president said present steelworkers' contracts running through 1959 include a number of "firsts" in the industry, with Supplemental Unemployment Benefit clauses among the most novel. He explained that terms of most contracts now in force make furloughed workers eligible for 65 per cent of their normal pay for a period up to a year. He added that among the "firsts" were weekend premium pay, a cost of living clause giving workers a three-cent hourly wage boost since the first of this year, holiday premium pay and union shop agreements.

He said all these firsts "are not perfect, but we consider them as things on which to build."

He then turned the meeting over to a discussion of past, pres-

Mill Railroad, Union Officials Meeting Today

U. S. Mediation and Conciliation Service mediators were scheduled to meet with representatives of Pittsburgh Steel Co. and Southwestern Railway Lodge 447, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, at 1:30 this afternoon in an effort to obtain a new labor contract between the company and railway.

Negotiators from the railroad and Pittsburgh Steel have been meeting the past several days before federal mediators in an effort to reach an agreement with the approximately 170 members of the lodge before the Jan. 17 contract expiration date.

The trainmen help make up crews which provide nearly all the rail service required to operate the Monessen plant.

Both sides, although not revealing the specific points of disagreement, have expressed optimism that a strike may be averted.

Representing the firm at today's meeting were Donald C. Duvall, vice president in charge of industrial relations; Nicholas Polkabla, assistant to the vice-president, and Earl Dunkerly, vice-president of Southwestern.

William Morgan, of Stockdale, grievance chairman, is heading the union representatives.

Local Brotherhood Group to Meet

A meeting of the Monessen Brotherhood committee has been scheduled at the Monessen Memorial Civic Center next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

This will be the reorganization session and is open to any local people interested in attending. Plans will be made for the program to be presented during National Brotherhood week in February.

$35 Stolen in Burglary at Service Station

About $35 in cash was taken when burglars broke into Vic's Service Station, at 18 East Donner avenue, sometime Wednesday night or early yesterday morning, Chief of Police Michael Kuvinka reported today.

Kuvinka said he withheld making the information public yesterday because he intended questioning a suspect. No details of the questioning has been released as yet.

According to police, entrance was gained breaking a window in the rear of the station. Once inside, the burglars carried the cash register from the office to the garage where they jimmied it open with a tire tool. They took a $10 bill, five $1 bills and about $20 in coins.

It was the third burglary in Monessen this week. Last Saturday or Sunday and again Monday burglars broke into Friedland's Fashion Shop at 515 Donner avenue. On the first trip they took $228. The second visit netted them $15.85.

Virginia's School Plan Ruled Unconstitutional

NORFOLK, Va. (UP)—Federal District Judge Walter E. Hoffman ruled today that Virginia's pupil placement plan to maintain school segregation is unconstitutional.

Hoffman ruled against motions for dismissal of segregation suits against the school boards of Norfolk and Newport News, Va.

"The pupil placement program enacted by Virginia is directly in the teeth of the language of the Supreme Court . . . which declared the fundamental principle that racial discrimination in public education is unconstitutional," Hoffman said.

Gov. Thomas B. Stanley and Attorney General J. Lindsay Almond, who defeated Hoffman in a 1953 race for attorney general, declined comment until they can study the ruling.

The attorneys for the two school boards had asked that segregation suits be dismissed because Virginia's pupil placement program offered administrative remedies the Negro plaintiffs should seek before going to the federal courts.

Manifestly, the governor of Virginia has suggested that there shall be no integration of races in the public schools of Virginia irrespective of how slight it may be," Hoffman said.

"The question remains: Has Virginia now enacted a constitutional act which is non-discriminatory in nature and not in violation of the 14th Amendment."

He answered his own question, "In compliance with my oath of office and my duty to determine matters from a legalistic viewpoint, I must answer in the negative."

"It is my firm conviction," Hoffman ruled, "that Virginia's new law is unconstitutional."

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People brought desegregation suits against Norfolk and Newport News early last fall. The cases went before the district court here on Nov. 21 and Hoffman took the motions for dismissal under advisement.

The pupil-placement law was enacted by a special September, 1956, session of the Virginia General Assembly as part of an administration program admittedly aimed at sidestepping the Supreme Court ban on segregation

Edwin Dawson New Chairman Of Red Cross

Edwin A. Dawson, works manager of the Monessen plant of Pittsburgh Steel Co., was unanimously elected chairman of the Monessen-Belle Vernon Chapter of the American Red Cross at a meeting held here yesterday.

He succeeds Dr. Michael Duda, former superintendent of Monessen Public Schools, who resigned. Dr. Duda now resides in California where he is president of California State Teachers College.

Dawson, who was elected for a two-year term, immediately announced that he will schedule a reorganization meeting soon.

During the meeting, Thomas F. Preston, chairman of the First Aid Committee, said 250 first aid certificates were issued the last six months of 1956.

Eden Resigns Commons Seat

LONDON (UP)— Sir Anthony Eden resigned his seat in the House of Commons today and was expected soon to give up his Conservative Party leadership. Such a move would give Prime Minister Harold Macmillan a free hand in patching up the Anglo-American alliance.

Macmillan called in members of the Eden cabinet today for consultations, and there were indications he would form his new government by Sunday. Buckingham Palace announced the Queen would return from Sandringham to London "for a short stay" then.

There was a possibility the ailing Eden was bowing out of British politics altogether. Reports said Queen Elizabeth offered Eden an earldom in the House of Lords and that he declined. The honor is always offered outgoing prime ministers.

Eden had represented Leamington in the House of Commons since December, 1923.

Eden still was technically leader of the Conservative Party although a new chief will almost certainly be elected soon. The prime minister usually leads the party.

Macmillan scheduled a quick move into the No. 10 Downing Street residence of the prime min-

Business Leaders Hail Ike Recommendations

NEW YORK (UP)— Leaders in business and finance today hailed President Eisenhower's recommendation for a complete re-examination of the nation's monetary credit and tax policies.

They agreed that such a sweeping inquiry into the adequacy of the nation's financial position was long overdue, the last one having been made in 1908.

The President proposed the study of the fiscal and monetary system in an address before Congress Thursday.

Sentiments for such a study have been growing in recent months, particularly in view of the Federal Reserve System's tight money policy.

America's economy has undergone major social and economic changes in the 50 years since the famous Aldrich Monetary Commission made the last comprehensive study of financial institutions. That study led to the creation of the Federal Reserve System.

Additional changes followed the Senate Pecora investigation in the early 1930s. That inquiry resulted in the formation of the Securities and Exchange Commission and other banking reforms.

Cyrus Eaton, Cleveland industrialist and chairman of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway, voiced the opinion of many experts when he said the banking system has failed to keep pace with the nation's industrial growth.

Eaton, concerned that a lack of credit could stifle economic growth, called for a revamping of the banking system, including creation of regional banks capable of making individual loans ranging up up to $100 million dollars. This is about double the present loan limit for the nation's biggest commercial banks.

All-time High In Industrial Activity Here

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa., (UP) —Although there was no gain from October, industrial activity in Pennsylvania during November set an all-time high for the month, the Bureau of Business Research at Pennsylvania State University reported today.

The bureau's index of industrial activity was three per cent higher than one year ago, reflecting new November records in bank debits, industrial power sales, factory payrolls, steel production, telephones, life insurance sales, postal receipts and department store sales.

Anthracite and bituminous coal production, down from October, were the highest for November since 1952; factory employment and hours were the best for the month since 1953.

Hog Callers Sweep Down on Manhattan

By H. D. QUIGG

NEW YORK (UP)—If you stay alert, you can get into the craziest things around here. Like a hog-calling contest in the middle of Manhattan. A single hog acted as summonee. It wore a red ribbon, tied in a large bow behind its ears.

This was a lady pig, a Yorkshire named Bathsheba. She also is an actress, currently starring in the role of "Salomey" in "Li'l Abner," a Broadway musical. She has white hair, blue eyes, and a pink nose.

Bathsheba was chaperoned by a young actress with black hair, brown eyes, and flaming lips, named Jackie Michaels.

"Bathsheba," said Miss Michaels, "was raised with two basset hounds. She thinks she's a dog."

This became apparent when the contestants started hollering at her.

The contest was held in the Nola studios, a place with hardwood floors, green walls, and bedsheet-size mirrors. About 30 contestants arrived in response to newspaper ads by Merkel, Inc., pork packers, for hog callers to sound off in broadcast commercials.

The first contestant was May Rice, who said she had called hogs for "quite a few years in North Carolina" before becoming a New Yorker. Inhaling deeply, she went: "Who-o-o-0" — a beautiful, pear-shaped contralto note—"Pig, pig, pig." Bathsheba grunted softly. She didn't move.

The next caller was named—honest he was—Aristide Delsi, who said he originally came from McMechen, W. Va. "It's close to Boggs Run," he explained. He wound up and let go with:

"Hoooaaay. Hoooaaay, pig, pig."

Bathsheba closed her eyes, fatigued. Miss Michaels, with assistance, put the pig in her lap, and sat down with the contestants.

Next was Hilda Chester, strictly a product of the sidewalks of New York. Hilda, a portly, red-haired, middle-aged, bray-voice type, has been famed for years for clanging a cowbell at Ebbets Field in praise of the Dodgers, yelling, and showing a sign: "Hilda is here."

She stuck her snout two feet from the pig's and bellowed:

"Hey! piggy, piggy, PIG-GEEE!" The walls shuddered. Hilda's face grew scarlet from the effort. Bathsheba leaped off the lap and loped to a far corner. A judge asked Hilda if she would try again.

"'Tsa pleas-yuh," said Hilda. She did. Bathsheba had to be retrieved forcibly. Hilda patted the porker's head and said, "nice piggy." She was asked if she ever called pigs before. "No, only pig's knuckles," she said. "I'm a sportswoman."

Financial Report Made at Meeting of Borough Council

The postponed December meeting of Fayette City Borough Council was held Wednesday morning in the council rooms of the Borough building.

President John Canigiani was in charge of the meeting and called for reports on all committees. The secretary, Edward Shook, gave a complete financial report for 1956. The committee's activities and financial report were discussed at length in preparation for compiling the budget for 1957.

Awaiting official action, the councilmen agreed on the same mileage and per capita tax. Plans were discussed and Shook was instructed to contact the Miller Real Estate and Insurance Co. and get an estimate on a complete 80-20 per cent co-insurance plan for the Borough building, to be included in the budget, if approved.

Burgess Howard Opfar turned over to council $25 for pool room tax and $20.50 for meter violations. Council voted to combine the offices of the secretary and treasurer in the future. Shook was appointed to the position.

Attending the meeting in addition to Canigiani, Shook and Opfar, were councilmen Harold Keenan, Norman Humphries, Jake Subovic and Lewis Alberta.

Church Sodality Holds Meeting; Plans Activities

The Sodality of Our Lady of St. Edward's Catholic Church held its January meeting Wednesday evening in the Parish Hall.

The meeting was opened with prayer led by the prefect, Dorothea Yelenich. A brief talk on activities was given by the church pastor, the Rev. Charles Ribick.

During the business meeting, conducted by Miss Yelenich, plans were made to hold a candy sale on Sunday morning, Jan. 20 after the 8:30 and 10:30 Mass.

Frances Vesely, moderator, announced this newly organized group was still open for new members and anyone desiring membership should contact her. The new members will be received into Sodality on Sunday morning, Feb. 3.

Plans were discussed but no definite action taken to hold a disc jockey hop in February. Plans will be completed at the February meeting for this event.

Final Service

The final service of the Community Ministerial Association for the Week of Prayer will be held this evening in the Fayette City Methodist Church with the Rev. Harry W. Beveridge presenting the sermon, "The Christian and Business".

The census bureau estimates that there will be 26 million, 500 thousand Americans over 64 years of age in the year 2000.

Collapsible Helicopter

PALO ALTO, Calif. (UP)—The Navy has unveiled a 250-pound collapsible, one - man helicopter which it described as the latest thing in front liaison craft.

The device, called the "Rotocycle," was developed by the Hiller Helicopter Corp. for tactical use by the Marine Corps. A Hiller spokesman said it comes as close to the idea of a "strap-on-back" helicopter as has yet been developed.

The craft is powered by a 4-cylinder opposed, air-cooled engine mounted on the pilot's back. A single rotor 18 feet in diameter provides the lift and a small tail rotor compensates for the torque.

Performance data was not disclosed.

The Navy said the Marine Corps would use the Rotocycle for observation, liaison and small unit tactical maneuvers.

Council Okays Fayette Group; Hears Report

The Perryopolis Council has approved a resolution designating the Fayette Development Council as the official industrial development agency to represent the county.

Under the terms of the Industrial Assistance Act, administrated by the State Department of Commerce, 50 per cent of all promotional funds may be provided by the state and spent by such an agency.

It requires the concurring resolutions of over half the population in the county, as represented by cities, boroughs and townships.

Other routine business was conducted at the meeting and a report was given by Burgess Russell Blair and Thomas Karolcik, president, on a recent meeting with Mr. Sherrerd, of Philadelphia, executor of the Mary Fuller Frazier estate.

Highlight event of the meeting was further discussion of the sewage disposal system and the water expansion project. Plans were made for a meeting of the zoning commission with the law sub-division regulations.

Other Council members attending were Henry Divirgilio, William Baker, Carlo Caporella, Alva Blair, John Rubish, Robert Palonder, Borough Secretary Stewart Stickle and Lou Martinak, borough policeman.

Deputy Treasury Secretary Resigns

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader today announced the transfer of Deputy Welfare Secretary Benjamin S. Bennett to the Revenue Department as a tax accounting and auditing consultant in another administration move to tighten sales tax collections.

Bennett, of 711 Tyson St., Philadelphia, will handle sales tax collection procedures, auditing and accounting and development of improvements in the collection of the sales and use tax.

His salary in the new position will remain unchanged at $12,108.

Car Stays Sober

LONDON (UP)—Out of gas, and petrol ration coupons, Mrs. Alice Klouda decided to try whiskey as fuel when her automobile stalled. "The car went like a bomb," she said, after driving it home without incident.

12 Killed in Crashes Of Two U. S. Planes

By UNITED PRESS

Twelve persons were killed Thursday night in two separate crashes of giant U.S. Air Force planes.

Six crew members of an $8 million B52 jet bomber were killed when the plane apparently exploded and crashed in rugged country near the U.S. border in New Brunswick.

The plane was reported on a "shake-down" flight from Limestone, Maine, about 15 miles from the scene of the crash. A spokesman said the plane was "evidently put in a position beyond its stress capabilities."

The pilot, 1st Lt. Joe L. Church, of Charlotte, N.C., parachuted to safety after finding himself thrown clear of the stricken craft.

Five Bodies Recovered

Air Force spokesmen said five of the bodies had been recovered and a widespread search was being made in four-foot-deep snow for the sixth victim.

The dead were identified as: Capt. Richard A. Jenkins, 35, Port Huron, Mich.; Capt. William C. Davidson, 40, Stockton, Calif.; Capt. John McCune, 31, Heyward, Calif.; Capt. Marquid H. D. Myers, 36, Tracy, Calif.; and T. Sgt. Ray A. Miller, 27, Racine, Wis.

The eight-jet bomber is one of the newest to go on operational duty with the Air Force. It was based at Loring Air Force Base at Limestone.

The pilot was engaged in instrument maneuvers when the explosion took place.

Six Crewmen Killed

Six crewmen were killed and three were injured at Bergstrom Air Force Base near Austin, Tex., when their KB29 aerial tanker dropped onto the runway and burned as it came in for a landing.

Air Force spokesmen said the plane was returning from a refueling mission but could indicate no cause for the crash.

The dead were identified as: 1st Lt. Ronald Rosetti, 24, Patterson, N.J.; 2nd Lt. Robert E. Smith, 23, San Antonio, Tex.; T. Sgt. Edward Z. Clemons, 29, Beckley, W. Va.; S. Sgt. Thomas Salazar, 24, Uvalde, Tex.; A-1C Michael Bryan McIntosh, Houston, Tex.; and 2nd Lt. John Anderson Berg, Birkenfeld, Ore.

Hospitalized with minor injuries were Lt. Joel F. Howerton, 23, San Angelo, Tex.; T. Sgt. Robert C. Winegar, 28, Austin, Tex.; and A-2C Bartholomew Esposito, 20, Plainview, N.Y.

The Air Force said the four-engine tanker was used to re-fuel jets in flight. An official hearing was called for today.

Hall to Quit as GOP Chairman

Slated to Get Top U. S. Job

WASHINGTON (UP) — Leonard W. Hall said today he will quit as Republican national chairman Feb. 1, and authoritative sources said he will be given a high federal job.

Hall's successor as party chief probably will be disclosed Jan. 22.

After Hall's announcement, President Eisenhower issued a statement crediting the retiring chairman with revitalizing the Republican Party.

"I sincerely hope," the President said, "that his wisdom and his long years of experience as legislator, judge, and chairman will continue to be available not only to the party but to the nation in the years ahead."

High administration sources said this means Hall will get an important federal post, possibly of cabinet rank. Hall himself would not discuss his reasons for resigning or his immediate plans, except to say he will take a vacation of six or seven weeks in Florida.

But he told members of the national committee that "my service to my country and my party has not ended." He made it clear that he intends, before doing anything else after Feb. 1, to get in some resting and fishing in Florida.

Talked With President

Hall talked for 30 minutes earlier today with President Eisenhower in whose successful campaign for re-election he had played a big role. He also advised Vice President Richard M. Nixon and all members of the national committee of his decision to retire.

Hall will appoint a subcommittee at a meeting of the national committee Jan. 19 to confer with Mr. Eisenhower on a new party chairman. The subcommittee will submit its report to the full committee Jan. 22, Hall said. At that time he will formally submit his resignation.

The authoritative statement that Hall will get a high administration job appeared to rule out for the near future his active entrance into New York state politics. There had been rumors he would run for governor in 1958.

Possible Successors

Republican leaders who have figured in speculation on Hall's successor include New York state GOP Chairman L. Judson Morehouse, Ohio State Chairman Ray Bliss, Treasury Counsel Fred C. Scribner Jr. of Maine, and Meade Alcorn, Connecticut member of the national committee.

Shortly before releasing his announcement, Hall called in his staff and told them the news.

His telegram notifying committee members of his decision gave no inkling of his reasons. He said his four years in the post "have been the most exciting, the most demanding and at the same time, the most fruitful years of my life."

"I am proud," he said, "of having participated in the two campaigns that brought victory to the great team of Dwight Eisenhower and Richard Nixon."

Hall said the President's administration has guided the American people "through four years of peace and dynamic growth in what history will call one of our greatest periods."

His telegram thanked committee members for their "friendship and cooperation" and said he had enjoyed associating with them.

Hall assured the members "that my service to my country and my party has not ended."

Major Congressional Fight Due Over Nation's Economy

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower's State of the Union Message opened a major congressional fight today over the nation's booming economy.

The fighting words are: High interest.

Under the administration's so-called "tight money" policy lenders are charging the highest interest rates in 20 years.

But there is more at stake than interest rates. The problem is how to maintain the national economy on its current high level and at the same time prevent a catastrophic inflation.

The President touched off the fight Thursday by his recommendation that Congress authorize a citizens' commission to conduct a sweeping investigation of the nation's financial system and credit policies. He also called on business and labor to go easy on increasing wages and prices in order to curb inflationary trends.

Government economists said the chances looked good that the wage line would be held. But they said the chances of holding the price line are uncertain.

At the same time, leaders of business and finance praised the President's investigation proposal. They said the study was long overdue.

However, Democratic congressmen — mostly House members — immediately demanded that Congress and not a presidential commission make the investigation.

Boils Down Issue

Rep. Wright Patman (D-Tex) said the issue boiled down to this:

Congressmen who favor continuance of the Federal Reserve Board's "hard money, high interest" policy, which it says is aimed at combating inflation, will favor the idea of a presidential commission.

Those concerned about the "damage" that "tight money" is doing to home builders, small businessmen and farmers, who are finding it difficult to obtain credit, will want the Democratic-controlled Congress to do the job.

Patman already has proposed such an inquiry by the House banking subcommittee which he heads. His resolution drew support from Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex), indicating it might be called up for an early House vote.

Patman said a presidential commission would be composed of "biased" banking and big business interests.

Martin Backs Ike

But Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. (Mass) said the GOP would overwhelmingly back the President's proposal and oppose Patman's inquiry. He said the latter "could turn into a witch-hunt."

Actually, there was no assurance that either investigation would be approved.

In the Senate, the idea of a citizen's commission got a cool reception from Democrats, even from those who, unlike Patman, favor the current "tight money" policy as a necessary curb on inflation.

But some suggested that the investigation of the economy be carried out by a joint Senate-House committee. Others noted that a Senate banking subcommittee headed by Sen. A. Willis Robertson (D-Va), already has scheduled public hearings Jan. 28 on a 300-page bill to overhaul federal laws governing banking and other financial institutions.

Administration officials said the President's call for an investigation of the economy did not mean he thinks there is anything drastically wrong. They noted that there has been no such broad inquiry into the financial system for at least 30 years and that the last one led to some major reforms.

OBITUARY

MRS. LORRIN CULLER

Lydia McGrew Culler, wife of Lorrin Culler, 445 McKee Avenue, died Thursday, Jan. 10 at 7:40 a. m.

A resident of the City since 1902, Mrs. Culler was a member of the First Presbyterian Church, Monessen chapter Order of the Eastern Star, and the Woman's Club.

Four Transferred From Ship in Raging Storm

BOSTON (UP)—Four seamen burned in a ship explosion off the coast of Newfoundland were transferred to a Coast Guard cutter today in a small boat that risked being swamped in raging seas.

A motor surf boat made four trips from the cutter Chincoteague to the Finnish freighter S S. Finntrader, returning each time with one of the burned men on a stretcher. Two of the men were reported "burned over their entire bodies" and in critical condition.

They were given medical treatment by a doctor aboard the cutter, the Coast Guard said. The cutter was expected to dock at St. Johns, Newfoundland, the nearest port, at midnight Saturday.

The cutter had been unable to come alongside of the freighter because of the rough water. Until the transfer was attempted, the two vessels had been proceeding side by side waiting for the seas to moderate.

The Coast Guard said the identity of the injured men had not been learned here.

When asked about the raids today, Chief of Police Michael Kuvinka, of Monessen, said he "knew nothing" of the raid until he reported for work this morning.

In several raids in the past, State Police usually notified local police of their intentions and "invited" them to accompany them on the raids. For reasons which could not be learned, this "courtesy" was not extended today.

Captain Garnow would say nothing more than "it was a raid."

ister today from his house next door. Then he was expected to begin selecting the top ministers of his new government, possibly before the day is over.

But he already had taken up the break in Anglo-American relations with Sir Roger Makins, British ambassador to Washington from 1953 to last November, who spoke up for Secretary of State John Foster Dulles at the height of transatlantic friction last fall.

The conference came barely three hours after Queen Elizabeth summoned Macmillan to Buckingham Palace to appoint him as successor to Sir Anthony Eden. American observers saw the conference as a firm indication of Macmillan's intention to restore British and American relations to pre-Suez unity.

Eisenhower's State of the Union Message Thursday gave Macmillan's plans a boost. The President said "America alone and unaided cannot assure even its own security" — a reminder, in the British view, that America's most powerful ally in the long run still is Britain.

Diplomats believed President Eisenhower may already have been in personal communication with Macmillan and they expected prompt arrangements for "Big Two" talks on the alliance which was badly damaged when Britain invaded Egypt without informing Washington.

Macmillan also moved swiftly to end any sign of a rift with Richard Austen (Rab) Butler, the majority leader in the House of Commons who had long been regarded as Eden's heir-apparent and who had been favored to win appointment as prime minister.

They spent half an hour in earnest talk Thursday afternoon and Butler said, "If my services are of value they will be at the prime minister's disposal." He was quoted further by a London newspaper as saying "I would certainly not desert the ship at a time like this."

Political observers predicted that Butler, the champion of moderate young Conservatives, might become deputy prime minister or foreign secretary in the new cabinet. Macmillan needs his firm support to unite the party that split over the Suez invasion.

He said basic steel now ranks in a tie for first place in industrial earnings with petroleum and coal products.

Sales at Liquor Stores Hits Record

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Liquor Control Board disclosed today that sales at its 626 state stores reached a record $255,055,184 in 1956.

Board Chairman Patrick E. Kerwin said the 1956 sales volume topped the previous year by $16,649,638. Figures for both years include the 10 per cent tax imposed by the Commonwealth.

Sales at the stores in December also set a record for a single month. Sales reached $40,267,441 compared with $39,747,328 in December, 1955.

Three Derailments Occur in Michigan

DETROIT (UP)—A total of 27 freight and passenger cars were derailed Thursday in three separate Michigan railroad accidents.

Thirteen freight cars were derailed in Taylor Township, 12 in Niles and two passenger cars in Wayne. No one was injured in any of the accidents.

Group Thinking Is Criticized

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Dr. Willis M. Tate, president of Southern Methodist University, said today that Americans must begin thinking for themselves and control such group actions as "the teenagers' reaction to Elvis Presley."

Dr. Tate, addressing the National Association of Schools and Colleges of the Methodist Church, said the American college and university has a responsibility to emphasize independent thinking and "help the individual rediscover himself as a child of God."

"There is a tendency in our society for the individual to be swallowed up in the crowd and to take his cues for thinking and action from pressure persons and groups. The teenagers' reaction to Elvis Presley is a current example," the SMU president said.

Dr. Tate added that people today are "informed on everything under the sun" but also "misinformed on a gigantic scale."

"Through the printed page, the billboard, movies, radio and television we are subjected to the most powerful pressures of suggestion focused at our basest emotional urges. People see, hear and feel so much that their responses are exhausted and confused," he said.

Dr. Tate said Christian education must "place more emphasis on educating the whole man" and must "send into our culture men and women whose spiritual values are as clearly articulated as are their intellectual ideas." Dr. Hubert Searcey, president of Huntington College, Montgomery, Ala., was elected president of the association Thursday to succeed Dr. Harold C. Case, president of Boston University.

Also elected were: vice president, Dr. Robert E. Burns, president of the College of the Pacific, Stockton, Calif; treasurer, Dr. A. Leland Forrest, chancellor of Nebraska Wesleyan University, Lincoln, Neb., and secretary, Dr. Myron F. Wicks, Nashville, Tenn., staff member of the Methodist Board of Education.

The elections were held as the church opened a meeting to launch a four-year emphasis on Christian higher education.

The church's Board of Christian Education presented its 5,000th scholarship award since 1941 to H. Newton Olewiler, Dickinson College sophomore and son of Rev. and Mrs. Horace Olewiler. Rev. Olewiler is pastor of the Wesley Methodist Church in Bethlehem, Pa. The presentation was made by Bishop Fred P. Corson of Philadelphia and Dr. W. W. Edel, president of Dickson.

Earlier in the opening day's program, Dr. E. C. Ficken, dean of Ohio Wesleyan University, pleaded for a better public understanding of the need for qualified college professors in all fields of learning.

"Why would it not be a strategic move to call the roll of professional leaders, industrial management, the church, government and all other beneficiaries of college teaching and ask what the leadership of each proposes to do about the recruitment, care and feeding of college teachers?" Dr. Ficken asked.

"Perhaps the time has come for the National Association of Schools and Colleges of the Methodist Church to formulate a fellowship plan which will help finance the early graduate education of promising prospects for our kind of teachers," he said.

Cold Blast Hits East, Midwest Bitter Blow

By UNITED PRESS

Winter's coldest weather bit into the Midwest and East today in the calm, clear wake of the season's worst snow storm.

The Arctic cold blast sent the mercury skidding to below zero readings over wide sections of the eastern third of the nation and to near freezing as far south as central Mississippi and Alabama.

One of the coldest spots in the nation was Joliet, Ill., with an overnight reading of 14 below. It was minus 13 at Albany, N.Y., and Burlington, Vt.; 5 below at South Bend, Ind., and 2 below in Chicago.

The cold wave followed a near blizzard that buried the Midwest and Atlantic seaboard with up to a foot of snow.

A United Press count showed at least 16 deaths blamed on the storm, most of them caused by over-exertion while shoveling snow.

Seven of the over-exertion deaths occurred in Illinois. In addition, four children suffocated from fumes of an over-heated oil stove in Nebraska.

Most main roads in the storm area were reported open today, but slippery with packed ice.

The storm moved out into the Atlantic Thursday night after pounding Norfolk, Va., and Annapolis, Md., with winds of more than 70 miles per hour.

New England was hit by 10 to 12 inches of snow and New York state got 4 to 8 inches. High winds hampered visibility, causing traffic jams in many highly populated areas of the East.

Further north, the worst snowfall in a decade buried Windsor, Ont., under a 31-inch blanket of white and high winds whipped the snow into three-foot drifts. Two persons died of over-exertion after shoveling snow.

The storm forced schools to close in sections of New York state, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Iowa.

Weathermen estimated five billion tons of snow fell during the widespread storm.

At McGrew, Neb., four children suffocated in their smoke-filled home while their mother was gone to get water because the cold weather had frozen water pipes.

Other early morning readings around the nation included New York City 19, Boston 10, Miami 60, Atlanta 33, Dallas 30, Oklahoma City 23, Duluth, Minn., 1, Omaha 6, Bismark, N.D., 2, Toledo, Ohio, 3, Detroit 10, Pittsburgh 12, Denver 23, Los Angeles 56 and Seattle 38.

Acheson Substitute for Ike Doctrine Supported

House Democrat Drafting New Plan for Action

WASHINGTON (UP)— A ranking House Democrat today was drafting a sharply toned-down substitute for the Eisenhower Doctrine which would embody the ideas of former Secretary of State Dean Acheson on stabilizing the Middle East.

Rep. Clement J. Zablocki (D-Wis), author of the substitute, said Acheson had "really pointed the way" for handling the "power vacuum" in the Middle East that the administration fears Russia will try to fill.

Zablocki is a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee which heard Acheson Thursday condemn the Eisenhower proposal as "far too hazardous."

The President has asked Congress to grant him standby authority to use U.S. troops, if necessary, to block any Russian aggression in the Middle East. He also wants approval of a $400 million program of economic and military aid to strengthen the Middle East.

Asks Congressional Approval

In his State of the Union Message to Congress Thursday, Mr. Eisenhower said congressional approval of his plan is a matter of "vital and immediate importance."

Indications have been that Congress would give the President substantially what he wants.

But Acheson, secretary of state under former President Truman, said Mr. Eisenhower's request for standby authority to use American troops in the Middle East "sounds perilously like another approach into the brink" of war.

He said that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' interpretation of what the administration would do with this authority "frightens me to death."

Urges Resolution Enactment

Acheson urged that Congress enact a resolution stating simply that it supports the President in any negotiations to bring peace to the Middle East. Acheson said the declaration should contain support for use of U.S. economic and political resources as well as military.

The Acheson proposal would not have the power of law and would not grant Mr. Eisenhower any powers that he does not now have.

Acheson said that if Mr. Eisenhower needs legislation to carry out specified projects he should ask Congress for the projects specially, not just in "vague phrases."

Zablocki said he hoped to have a draft of Acheson's proposal ready "within a day or two."

Stan Freeman

Piano Virtuoso Here On Wednesday Night

Stan Freeman, piano virtuoso and musical satirist, will present one of the most unusual programs members of the Monessen-Belle Vernon Civic Music Association have ever enjoyed when he appears at the Monessen High School auditorium next Wednesday evening, Jan. 16.

A radio, TV and recording star, Freeman's versatility makes him equally at home as a soloist with a great symphony orchestra and in an intimate night club.

Valley music lovers who are members of Civic Music will hear a widely varied repertoire in the local concert.

Freeman will play a program of "serious" music during the first half of his concert,with selections from familiar works of Mozart, Chopin, Debussy and Liszt.

The second half of the evening, however, Freeman will "ad lib" in the style that has made him one of the most unique entertainers in the country, combining his rare wit with what critics have termed impeccable musicianship.

Freeman first received national attention as a serious pianist in 1941 when he won the Macdowell Club Award as the outstanding young American pianist of that year.

While in the Army he came to enjoy popular music and developed the diversified style which is now exclusively his. In addition to performing with the Army Air Corps Symphonic Band, he was one of the chief arrangers of Tex Beneke's Glenn Miller Army Band.

Returning to civilian life, he broke quickly into radio and television work. He has had several shows of his own on national networks. In addition, he has been a guest on such shows as Kate Smith's, Steve Allen's, Robert Q Lewis' and Milton Berle's.

Freeman's popular recordings for Columbia include "Piano Moods", "Come - On a Stan's House" and "Stan Freeman Plays Rodgers and Hart" and numerous others.

But Freeman has by no means forsaken the classics, and his serious recitals continue to draw critical praise. He has appeared in solo with the New York Philharmonic and Buffalo Symphony orchestras.

The concert here will begin at 8.15 with the doors of the auditorium opening at 7:30. Only holders of Civic Music membership cards are admitted. No tickets are sold.

The Freeman concert is the second of the fifth annual series offered by Civic Music. The Vienna String Symphony opened the season last month.

Bridge Tourney Winners Listed

Seven tables were in play last night when the Magic City Bridge Club met at the Charleroi Elks.

North-south winners were Mrs. Dan Dolfie, of Charleroi and Mrs. Frederic Feldman, of Belle Vernon, first; Dr. William E. Trezise, of Fayette City and James P. Ferguson, of Belle Vernon, second.

East-west winners were Dr. J. H. Carazola and Allen Levin, of Canonsburg, first; Joe Rosenberg and Bill Hugus, of Washington, second.

Legion Post to Present Show at Oakland Hospital

Thomas McKee Post 28, American Legion, will again sponsor a Variety Show at the Oakland Veteran's Hospital. In 1955 the Post took a show to Aspinwall Veteran's Hospital and in 1956 to the Oakland Hospital.

The presentation has been set for Jan. 25, from 7 until 8:15 p. m. The group will leave Monessen by chartered bus promptly at 5 o'clock and all acts desiring to join the review are asked to call MU 4-6046 after 6 p. m. until Jan. 15.

A parent or guardian is asked to accompany each act to assist in costume changes.

A delegation from the Post Ladies Auxiliary will assist in the distribution of cigars and cigarettes to the patients attending the show.

The rehearsal date will be announced later and the committee in charge includes Angelo Giannini and Jack Snyder, co-chairmen, Peter T. Stieska, commander of the Post and Minnie Sedlar, president of the auxiliary. Jack Snyder will act as master of ceremonies.

Anyone knowing of patients at Oakland from this area is asked to notify the Post by calling the above number.

County Society Plans for Week

Westmoreland County Christian Endeavor Society is planning special services for Christian Endeavor Week from Jan. 27 to Feb. 5. A rehearsal has been set for Sunday afternoon at 2:30 at the Church of God in Mt. Pleasant to prepare for an hour long broadcast on Jan. 27.

The program will be presented over the Greensburg radio station.

The West Newton Church of God will be one of the churches in which the services will be held during the observance and on Feb 1, there will be a banquet at the Youngwood Methodist Church. Reservations can be made until Jan. 28, with Walter Kelly, of New Stanton.

French Official Talks Over Suez with Dulles

WASHINGTON (UP) — Top American officials today were reported optimistic that negotiations will begin soon on a permanent settlement of the Suez Canal controversy.

The Suez problem was the number one issue to be discussed at talks this afternoon between Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and visiting French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau. Pineau was due to arrive in Washington by train from New York this afternoon.

In advance of the talks, diplomats predicted an arrangement would be worked out soon under which U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold would act as an "umpire" in new negotiations on the Suez between Egypt, Britain and France. Egypt, it was understood, is willing to negotiate "through" Hammarskjold in order to avoid sitting down with the British and French in direct talks.

Timing of the "umpire talks" may be linked with Israel's withdrawal of the troops she sent into the Sinai Peninsula and the Gaza Strip in her attack on Egypt. The United States, in both Washington and Tel Aviv, has been urging Israel to speed up its pullback.

Failure to withdraw to pre-invasion armistice lines, American officials believe, would both spur new U.N. action against Israel and delay settlement of the Suez Canal controversy. Egypt has held back on negotiations, in part, on the ground that Israel had failed to comply with U.N. demands to withdraw its attacking forces.

Budapest Rebels Fired on

BUDAPEST (UP)—Police and Hungarian militia opened fire today on thousands of workers shouting anti-Communist slogans in Budapest.

The main clash took place outside the sprawling iron and steel mills on suburban Csepel Island in the Danube River south of the city. Less serious incidents occurred near other major factories.

Police fired with submachine guns and carbines on the demonstrators, but the shots were directed over the heads of the crowds. It was not reported immediately if there were any serious casualties.

The demonstrators said they were clamoring for better wages. They carried placards denouncing government concessions as inadequate.

But observers said the main reasons for the new outburst of violence were:

1. The unrelenting tone of Premier Janos Kadar's policy statement last Sunday which said flatly the government was returning to rigorous Communist dictatorship.

2. Government attempts to infiltrate the factory workers' councils with Kadar party Communists.

3. The mass layoffs in factories all over Hungary which Kadar ordered for the new year.

There were no reports of intervention by Russian tanks in this morning's demonstrations.

The demonstrations were the first outburst of violence between workers and police since before Christmas.

Perry Youth to Be Honored at State Farm Show

A Perryopolis youth will be honored as a "keystone farmer" by the Future Farmers of America next week at the State Farm Show in Harrisburg.

Thomas M. Sickle will be one of 220 to receive the annual award to vocational students for outstanding achievement in agriculture and rural life.

Others in the tri-county area to be so honored are the following:

Fayette County — Don Stickler, Vanderbilt, R. D. 1; Albert Ferens, West Leisenring; Alvin Diamond, of Smithfield, R. D. 2; Joseph Steve, Jr., Lake Lynn, R D 1.

Washington County — Charles Wright, of Amity, R. D. 1; Ronald Westfall and John M. Lindley, Dunns Station, R. D. 1; Donald R. Doak and James Herron, Washington, R. D. 2; Edward Lemley, West Finley, R. D. 1 and Van Cowden, Burgettstown, R D 2.

Westmoreland County — Paul Fox, New Stanton, R. D. 1; Dale McCurdy and Leroy Mewherter, New Derry and Ray N. Ankney, Ligonier, R. D. 1.

USW Candidate To Get Hearing Before Commission

PITTSBURGH (UP)— Frank W. O'Brien, a member of a United Steelworkers dues protest group who seeks a place on the Feb. 12 union ballot, was told today his claim will be heard Monday in Chicago.

O'Brien, a Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp employe, claimed he was denied a place on the ballot for director of USW District 16 despite the fact he had received nominations from seven locals, two more than required. On Tuesday he withdrew an injunction petition seeking to prevent the election after union officials said they would investigate his claim.

O'Brien was advised by a telegram signed by USW Secretary-Treasurer I. W. Abel to appear before a commission of International Executive Board members at the Conrad Hilton Hotel. The commission was appointed by union president David J. McDonald.

The telegram said: "You are privileged at your own expense to appear with witnesses at your own expense and present your case before the commission and Executive Board."

The commission said it would report its findings to the 36-member Executive Board at 8 p.m. Monday.

Lions Hear Talk By Member at Local Meeting

Lions Club President William Essey was in charge of last night's dinner session held in the Slovak Home. Invocation was by Michael Ferencz and song leader was Joseph Lancas.

The speaker was Ross Aiello, a member of the club, who is serving as Zone Chairman of District 14. He discussed the observance of Founders Month and the drive for new members in the organization. He also explained fundamentals and the workings of a good Lions Club.

President Essey presented Angelo Loulis with a five year perfect attendance award. Joseph Shoemaker accepted a check for $100 from the club for Hungarian Relief, as secretary of the local Hungarian Club.

A "Ladies Night" was planned for Feb. 7 at the home with Bob Schrag as general chairman.

The birthday anniversaries of 17 members were celebrated. This included both December and January birthdays.

Won't Change Charge In Map Theft Case

PITTSBURGH (UP)—A U.S. attorney said today the government did not plan to change the wording of an indictment against Irving Milner, a Houston, Tex., fugitive in the Gulf Oil Corp. map theft case, in order to have him returned to this country from Canada.

"Inquiry was made of the Department of Justice for extradition," U.S. Atty. D. Malcolm Anderson said, "but we have been advised that a conspiracy charge was not included in any treaty with Canada."

Anderson said the government did not plan to change the wording of the indictment in order to have Milner extradited. Milner was believed to be in Calgary, Canada.

"A separate charge could be brought that would fit the (extradition) treaty but we do not plan to do that now," Anderson said. "We don't know that he won't come back (to the U.S) of his own accord."

Milner, 47, was indicted on a conspiracy charge last month along with Odie R. Seagraves, 70, Houston oil promoter, and two New York brothers, Emmanuel and Edward Lieberman, in connection with the map thefts. The maps, which detail possible oil bearing lands, were removed from Gulf headquarters here.

Milner was out of the country when the FBI broke the theft case with a raid on a New York warehouse last Dec. 18. Milner and the other men, who were arrested, were indicted on charges of conspiring to transport stolen goods across state lines.

Serra Club in Installation at Charleroi Elks

At its regular meeting held Tuesday evening at the Charleroi Elks Club, the Serra Club of the Monongahela Valley installed officers for the year 1957.

The District Governor of the Province of Pennsylvania, William Tracey, presided at the installation. Those installed were Victor Rehula, Jr. president; Leonard Sedney, first vice-president; George Might, second vice-president; Clarence Palchak, secretary; Arthur LeClair, treasurer; Dominick Caterino, trustee three years. Hold over trustees are Emil Spadafore and Joseph Slavonia.

Guest speaker for the occasion was Monsignor Ferris J. Guay, Diocesan director of vocations.

Also in attendance was Matthew Pauley, Diocesan governor of the Pittsburgh Diocese.

Production Rate Of Big Bombers Faces Slashing

WASHINGTON (UP)— The Defense Department is preparing to cut planned production rates for B52 hydrogen bombers — directly reversing action taken in the heat of the 1956 Senate air power investigation

Defense Secretary Charles E Wilson raised the goal from 17 to 20 a month during the 1956 controversy over relative American and Russian air strength. Before Senate critics, he personally took credit for pushing the big jet bomber program "faster than the Air Force"

The 20-a-month goal for the $8 million bombers was to be reached in late 1957. However, instead of rising to that level now combined production at Boeing's Wichita, Kans., and Seattle, Wash., plants may be flattened out at the previous goal of 17 a month — possibly fewer. A final decision is expected in April.

The move is linked partially with the tight new military budget that goes to Congress next week. It also indicates that the Pentagon expects to hold the Air Force to 11 B52 wings of 45 planes each instead of the 17 wings proposed by Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chief of staff. The 17-wing proposal is still before the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Reversal of the widely publicized production increase will be a shock to Senate Democrats who assailed Pentagon policies on the ground that Russia was being allowed to catch up with America in air power.

PRR Orders Six Stainless Steel Commuter Cars

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — The Pennsylvania Railroad placed an order Thursday for six streamlined, stainless steel and plastic commuter cars seating 132 persons each.

The railroad, in a move to replace old commuter train cars, took an option on 44 more of the cars in placing its order with the Budd Co. of Philadelphia. The first six are expected to be delivered in December of this year Total cost of the 50 cars will be approximately $9-million.

The new coaches will be similar to a Budd Co. experimental car which has undergone 55 000 miles of testing. They will be 85 feet long with fluorescent lighting and thermostatically controlled heating. The walls, ceilings and floors will be finished in pastel colored plastic.

Walter Patchell, PRR vice president in charge of research and development, said the railroad eventually hopes to replace "most of the older cars" in the railroad's suburban service.

Asking for Trouble

MOUNT HOLLY N J (UP)—Earl Franks, 25, of Vincentown, was charged with disorderly conduct and reckless driving today after, police said, he got into a quarrel with his girl friend, threw a brick through her window, then led police on a 15-mile high-speed chase which ended when his car overturned. He was not hurt.

State Farm Show to Begin Next Monday

HARRISBURG (UP)—Harrisburg becomes a "rural metropolis" next week when hundreds of thousands of farm folk flock to the city for the annual winter agricultural extravaganza — the 41st Pennsylvania Farm Show

Growers, breeders and exhibitors will compete for a record $58,556 in premiums at the five-day, four-night exhibition which will feature the prize products of the state's rich farmlands and the newest in agricultural machinery —all on view at no charge.

Two events have been cut from the crowd-pleasing features held in the 10,000-seat large arena in the evenings Missing from the attractions for the first time in many years will be the log-sawing and horseshoe - pitching competition.

But the popular horsemanship exhibition put on by the Pennsylvania State Police will be in its regular spot on the opening evening of the show And on successive evenings the large arena will feature the rural talent festival with its cast of hundreds, the horse - pulling championships, a livestock parade, sheep dog demonstration and six-horse hitch demonstration — the last three events scheduled for Thursday night.

Gov. George M Leader will welcome the thousands of visitors to the show at special ceremonies in the large arena opening night Jan 14 The mid-winter carnival closes Friday, Jan 18

Talent Festival

The 12th annual Rural Talent Festival, this year built around the theme, "We Have it in Pennsylvania" is scheduled for Tuesday night and always attracts a standing-room-only capacity audience The horse-pulling titlists will be decided Wednesday night and the huge livestock parade will be held Thursday evening The 4-H and Future Farmers of America tractor - driving contests will be held Thursday afternoon

First exhibits, including some livestock entries were brought to the show late this week and perishable products are slated to be placed on display today and tomorrow Competitive exhibits will exceed 10 000, ranging from edible nuts to titanic farm work horses Advance entries indicate the livestock and poultry displays will be the largest in the show's history More than 2,000 head of horses, beef and dairy cattle, sheep and swine are entered in the livestock classes.

Commercial exhibitors at this year's show will number approximately 300 Show officials said lack of space forced the rejection of another 100 applicants although the display of farm machinery will occupy more than two acres of the almost 14 acres of floor space available at the show.

For the first time the exposition will feature a display of Christmas trees as a farm product Space for 60 such trees has been allocated.

Queen Elizabeth Invited To U. S.

LONDON (UP)—President Eisenhower has invited Queen Elizabeth to make a "non-political" visit to the United States in October, it was reported today.

The London Daily Mirror said the official invitation will be extended by retiring U.S. Ambassador Winthrop Aldrich before he leaves his post later this month, although discussions of the proposed visit have been held for the past several weeks between the White House and Buckingham Palace.

The visit would be Elizabeth's first as sovereign of the British Empire and her second to the United States. She and her husband made a tour of the United States and Canada in 1951

President Harry S. Truman remarked at that time that "never before have we had such a wonderful young couple that so completely captured the hearts of all of us"

Basic Foods Essential For Your Good Health

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

With so much stress on reducing diets, these days. I'm afraid too little attention is paid to the average everyday diet that all of us who are not trying to lose weight should maintain.

There's no complicated formula to follow for this everyday good health diet. It's simply composed of the seven basic foods — foods you probably eat anyway.

But there's the catch. Instead of "probably" eating some of them each day, make sure that you do eat them every day.

Let's see what these seven basic foods are and what they can do for you:

1: Leafy, green and yellow vegetables. You can eat fresh, frozen or canned vegetables, either raw or cooked. They provide vitamin A to protect your skin and eyes and to guard against infection. They also add iron to help build blood as well as roughage to aid elimination.

2: Citrus fruits, tomatoes and raw cabbage. For the citrus fruits, you can have whole fruit or juice, fresh, frozen or canned. These are rich in vitamin C, which promotes strong blood vessels and keeps gums healthy. Again, they supply roughage to help elimination.

3: Potatoes, other vegetables and fruit. Eat potatoes, cooked any way you want, plus at least one additional vegetable or fruit. These foods contain several essential vitamins and minerals and also add roughage.

4:Milk and milk products. Adults need at least the equivalent of one pint of milk a day. You can drink milk in any form, or consume it as cheese, ice cream or milk desserts. In addition to supplying clacium for your bones, these foods contain vitamins A and D, several other vitamins and minerals and protein.

5: Meat, fish, poultry and eggs. You can eat these cooked any way you desire. Make sure you get at least four eggs a week. You get needed vitamins, plus iron for the blood and protein for the body tissue.

6: Bread and cereal. I advise whole grain or enriched bread and cereals. The whole grains are important for roughage. Besides, these foods give you vitamins, iron, protein and calories which help pep you up.

7: Butter and margarine. You can have butter or fortified margarine, or substitute cooking fat and salad oils. In addition to supplying calories for energy, they give you vitamin A, which serves as a protector against danger of infection.

That's it. It's not a fancy diet. But it's healthy.

Question and Answer

L. O.: Is hemorrhage from the lung always due to tuberculosis?

Answer: Hemorrhage from the lung need not always be due to tuberculosis. Pneumonia, a tumor of the lung, varicose veins in the tubes leading to the lungs and heart conditions may cause a person to cough up blood.

Steubenville Men Get Jail Terms

PITTSBURGH (UP)— Three Steubenville, Ohio, men were sentenced to jail terms Wednesday after they pleaded guilty to burglarizing a vending machine firm here.

The suspects, Lewis Kremer, 32, Robert J. Confalone, 22 and Robert Main, 20, were arrested last Dec. 17 as they were loading their auto with $1,800 in merchandise from the Automatic Canteen Co.

Judge John J. Kennedy sentenced Kremer to a 2-4 year prison term. Confalone was sentenced to 11-23 months in the Workhouse and Main drew an 8-23 month Workhouse sentence.

State of the Union Is Good—but

PRESIDENT Eisenhower's report to Congress on the State of the Union, somewhat shorter than usual, dealt in general terms with the two great areas of the federal government's activities — foreign and domestic. But in neither area did the President make any startling disclosures or recommend specific new measures.

He had already, of course, put before Congress his recommendations for action in the Middle East, where the latest threats to world peace have arisen. And it is hardly news by now that a President of the United States considers it essential that this country remain militarily strong and continue to play a leading role in the grim business of checking the spread of world Communism.

* * *

HERE AT HOME Mr. Eisenhower seems seriously concerned about inflation and what it may do to the "abundant prosperity" the country is experiencing. He is urging business firms to avoid increases in prices, and he feels wages and salaries should be raised only where they can be justified on the basis of increased productivity.

In short, the President is cautioning the country not to kill the goose that is laying golden eggs. And that is exactly what wage-price inflation is threatening to do.

Whether the country will respond to such a plea for restraint is a question. Frankly, we see little chance that it will. The temptation to get something while the getting seems good, coupled with the popular urge to satisfy individual and family desires without delay makes an economic tide which is pretty irresistible.

The administration's major weapon against inflation at the moment is the so-called "tight money" policy which, by making credit more expensive, presumably throttles down the demand for services and goods where the demand exceeds the supply.

But even if this policy was wholly effective, which it obviously is not, it is under heavy political fire from the Democratic majorities in Congress who apparently think the answer to inflation is a little more inflation.

In any case, the problem bears heavily on the State of the Union as the year 1957 gets underway. Summing up the President's report, it is fair to say, we believe, that the Union is in excellent shape but had better watch its diet.

Changes in Britain

THE CHANGE in the British government which has seemed inevitable since the ill-advised attack by Britain and France on Egypt is now taking place, and Harold Macmillan, Chancellor of the Exchequer, is replacing Sir Anthony Eden as Prime Minister.

The Queen's choice of Macmillan, rather than the better known (at least in the United States) R. A. Butler, is somewhat surprising. But the explanation seems to be that, as between the two men, Macmillan's views concerning the Suez problem are a little closer than Butler's to those of the most influential leaders of the Conservative party. So presumably Macmillan will have somewhat broader support in the House of Commons than would Butler.

The differences, however, can hardly be serious. For both Macmillan and Butler have been in the first rank of the Eden cabinet and both, therefore, have borne some of the responsibility for the Suez policies, including the attack on Egypt.

This leads one to surmise whether the transfer from Eden to Macmillan is the complete change to be made in the British government as a result of the recent events. Or whether it is only the first of a series to be culminated, perhaps, by a general election in which the Labor Party would seem to have a good chance to return to power.

At any rate, we are witnessing once more the flexibility and resilience of the British system, which has stability when stability is required but which provides for rapid and orderly change when change seems indicated by the nation's needs and desires.

We do not necessarily compare the American constitutional system unfavorably with the British when we observe that, in some circumstances, the latter has its advantages. At least, it has served Great Britain well for a long, long time and seems to produce generally good leadership.

Nevertheless, a government crisis in one of the great powers of the free world is a serious thing. And we must hope that Britain quickly recovers its poise, makes whatever adjustments its people see fit to make and then takes up again its full partnership in the cause of freedom.

Those three-day "suspensions" which have been in vogue at the Monessen City Hall recently seem to have spread to the rackets. It's been suggested that maybe the racketeers should ask for a hearing before City Council.

Merry-Go-Round—

Ike Blisters Nasser in Talk to Staff

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — In a recent White House staff meeting, President Eisenhower blistered Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt as if he were the No. 1 irritant of American foreign policy. Prime Minister Ben-Gurion of Israel couldn't have been more critical.

Mr. Pearson

Eisenhower complained that the United States had saved Nasser's neck; now he was swaggering and blustering as if he had won the war singlehanded.

Reason for the presidential wrath was Nasser's stalling on his pledge to reopen the Suez Canal. At that particular time he was refusing to let British and French salvage crews operate. Later he held up the departure of 13 imprisoned ships, then announced that no British-French ships could use the Canal except under certain conditions, also announced ships would have to pay tolls direct to Egypt — despite previous plans that they be paid to a ship users' association or an international body.

Ike's understandable explosion focuses attention on the most crucial point regarding the proposed Eisenhower doctrine — namely, will it work? Will the Arab world be deterred by our mailed fist in one hand and the offer of aid in the other?

Nasser's Criticism

Here are some facts members of Congress will doubtless want to examine before making a final decision, which is excellent in principle but faces some difficulties with Arab psychology.

The Cairo radio on Oct. 14, 1955 proclaimed: "Justice and, logic require that we now defend Russia and attack America, which has shown falsehood, deceit, and ill-will."

The Cairo radio is of course the official mouthpiece of Colonel Nasser's government. This statement was made at the very time Secretary Dulles was talking about a whopping loan to Nasser for the Aswan Dam. It was also at the same time the United States was sending arms and foreign aid to Nasser.

Al-Ahram, the Cairo Daily, published in a country where the press is required to represent the government, had this to say about American aid, on Oct 2 1955:

"America with all its millions and billions cannot win the heart of Egypt with diseased Point 4 chicks. . . Nor can America win the heart of Egypt with cheese, condensed milk, etc., which we know she is interested in getting rid of. America cannot win the heart of Egyptians with her worthless colored posters in which she attacks Communism while she herself is not a democratic country."

These were not isolated editorials. They followed a pattern.

Proclaimed the Cairo radio Oct. 11, 1955: "American weapons provide the basic channel for the penetration of American influence. The Americans therefore invented what they called the Mutual Security Pact They offer it to miserable nations forced by circumstance to arm, and they innocently say to them: 'All you have to do is sign this pact and American weapons will pour into your country without costing you a single cent.' "

Warned the Cairo radio on Dec. 13, 1955: "Where is the prosperity enjoyed by Turkey after having received dozens of millions from its friend, the United States? In Turkey there is backwardness which has been made more so through American aid."

The critical broadcasts and editorials continued. Finally in July, 1956, John Foster Dulles, partly because of Egyptian criticism, partly because of the approaching U. S. election and the Jewish vote, suddenly withdrew the offer of money for the Aswan Dam.

"Let them choke on their own fury," shouted Nasser, and seized the Suez Canal.

Will Nasser Change?

The big question Congress will have to decide is whether Nasser is now ready to cooperate or whether he will revert to type He is the chief leader of the Arab world. What he does, most of North Africa and part of the Near East will follow.

Eisenhower's private gripe at Nasser the other day was certainly justified; but it highlights one of the major mistakes of the President's administration.

It could have made any terms with Nasser when he was cringing in a cellar during the French-British-Israeli attack. He lost the battle for the Sinai Peninsula ignominiously. His army held out against tiny Israel for only six days. But now he is acting as if he were the victor.

In other words, Nasser has not changed. John Foster Dulles urged him to take American money when Nasser was getting huge shipments of Russian arms. Dulles rushed to London to side with Nasser when Nasser first seized Suez. Dulles even went to bat for him against our traditional allies, the French and British; withheld oil until they were out of Suez.

How About the Ones Behind?

From Washington—

Red China and U. S. Reporters

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Secretary Dulles or, if necessary, President Eisenhower himself ought to extricate the administration from what seems to me the profoundly untenable, harmful, useless and contradictory policy of trying to keep American newspapers from covering what's happening in Red China with American correspondents.

Mr. Drummond

The official arguments for acting to block reporters' travel to Red China simply do not make sense and never did make sense. What is more important is that the stated reasons for the policy do not go to the heart of the problem.

The State Department has paternalistically explained that American newspapermen must not go to Red China to report because the United States, since it does not recognize Red China, cannot guarantee their safety. Both American reporters do not expect the government to assure their safety In war and peace they have covered the news to the rankful reaches of the world and are prepared to run all necessary dangers in the pursuit of an enterprising and free press.

Three Reach Peiping

The American press does not ask the government to "authorize" travel to Red China. It simply asks that the government not interpose itself between the press and its efforts to cover the news wherever it is The newspapers do ask this much: that the government at least refrain from trying to punish American reporters who are willing to take the risks of getting the news beyond frontiers where the State Department does not want the American passport to extend.

Already three American newsmen have reached Peiping. They are Edmund Stevens, Moscow correspondent for the Cowles Publications, formerly with the Christian Science Monitor; Philip Harrington, photographer for Look Magazine, and William Worthy, representing the Weekly Afro-American, published in Baltimore. Doesn't it seem a little fantastic truly hasn't something gone awry, hasn't some official slipped a cog that these newspapermen should be threatened with the 1917 Trading With the Enemy Act?

Is there any embargo on traffic in news? You think the State Department which hasn't any sources of its own in Red China, would welcome rather than hinder, objective American reporting If American reporters are to be prevented from going to Red China the news will be written and handled by non-American reporters Does the State Department think that it is better to have the news from Red China written exclusively by non-Americans? I doubt it It just hasn't thought through its policy.

Negotiate for Prisoners

The State Department's desire to prevent U. S reporters from visiting Red China is evidently related to its negotiations with Peiping representatives over the release of American soldiers who have been held prisoners in Red China

These negotiations have been on — and off — now for nearly two years and very substantial headway has been made Just ten Americans, which are ten too many, are now being held, and the outlook seems favorable for their release As far as I know, the State Department has offered no evidence to indicate that the travel or non-travel of American reporters to Red China, their presence or non-presence in Red China, has had, is having or will have any bearing upon the success or non-success of these diplomatic negotiations.

It seems to me that the reasons for trying to prevent or punish American correspondents going to Red China to report are inadequate and strained There are, however, positive reasons why the government should not interpose itself in this manner.

The value, prestige and credibility of the American press around the world is its independence of the government. It is not only a free press, it is a private press, not government supervised not government-directed. I suggest that when the U.S. government assumes to tell American reporters where they can't travel to report, on the ground that traveling there might have some bearing on diplomatic negotiations, then it is acting to deprive the U. S. press of one of its most valuable attributes — its independence of government — and is assuming to use the press as an instrument of government.

I can't believe that the President wants it that way. It is bad for the press, bad for the government and bad for the American people because it restricts the flow of news.

A ten-day evangelistic campaign is in progress at the Presbyterian Church. Visiting ministers will occupy the pulpit each evening.

With the passage of a bill at Washington, certain obstructions that have stood in the way of the proposed construction of a portion of the Belle Vernon bridge were removed. The work proposed will cost about $185,000 including practically the rebuilding of two large piers that stand out in the river.

They Die for Nothing, Who Die on Highways

By MARGARET LATROBE

Wars are not really so dreadful, you know. Comparatively, wars have killed fewer people than are slaughtered in highway accidents. Wars have one virtue — they are fought for something. Right or wrong, there is an emotional exaltation in fighting for what you believe in. And when the military struggle has ceased, the victor proudly says his dead have not died in vain. . .

Mrs. Latrobe

No such glory for those mashed to a bloody pulp in the thousands of splintering wrecks we record each holiday. Shocking, we say. Certainly too bad. With a shrug and a shudder we look at the mangled atrocity pictured in our papers. So young they were. So many they were. So sad.

These dead have died in vain, believe me. Hurtling through space as though dropped in aluminum foil over Niagara, they hit another car hurtling through space as though catapulted from another falls. Cars stop, there is running and screaming in the night. There are agony and bones protruding and someone dashes to phone authorities — who know so well what must be tried from another and another flaming bier.

Most states have laws prohibiting lethal weapons to be carried without permission. Guns, knives? You can go to jail very rapidly for possessing unlicensed firearms or concealing sharp blades in vest pockets. Friends, they overlooked our best weapon. We who drive without regard either for ourselves or others are armed to the teeth. To the death.

A surgeon daring to operate while drunk? Unthinkable. Plane pilot sipping martinis before take-off? Impossible. Our opinions along such sensitive lines are clear and explicit. But if old Joe wants to wheel us downtown, a bit tight — what's the harm in that? You attract unfavorable attention from the cops, you pay a fine, and who cares!

Death's disciples are not drinking or faulty brakes or icy roads. Not excessive speeds or truculence or general meanness finding release behind the wheel. Not blowouts or falling asleep for one moment in which your car jumps 24 inches into the oncoming lane of traffic. Not these alone. Death's real ally is simply that we have other plans, our belief that accidents happen to others, our certainty that if they obeyed road rules we could ignore a few.

War—stupid men's attempts to become stupid gods — give aggressors and defenders the honor of a uniform. Fighting men at least die for something. What can you say of the innocent highway dead who gave their lives, for nothing?

Behind the News—

Rhee Threatens to March on N. Korea

By CHARLES M. McCANN

President Syngman Rhee is threatening again to march his army into Communist North Korea.

The tough old chief executive of the Republic of Korea has made the unification of his divided country his major goal for 1957.

He would like the Western Allies who fought in the Korean War to denounce the armistice which was signed on July 24, 1953.

If that does not happen, he says, he may take on the North Koreans and the Chinese Communists himself.

Despite the odds he would face, the possibility that he may do so sooner or later cannot be ruled out.

Rhee feels that his allies, involved in a cold war with Soviet Russia in Europe and the Middle East, have too long neglected the area in which the free world went into a hot war against Red aggression.

U.N. Resolution Adopted

The United Nations adopted on Tuesday a United States resolution calling for the reunification of Korea through free elections, to be held under UN auspices.

But resolutions to the same effect have been passed before, and Rhee knows—as do the countries which belong to the UN—that the Communists will not agree to any such elections.

Rhee takes the view that the Korean armistice has become just another scrap of paper and that his country is no nearer unification than it was 3 1-2 years ago when the war ended.

His attitude is not unreasonable. South Korea, a country of 28 million people is supporting an army of 15 million men.

South Korea gets United States aid. But its economic situation is desperate. And Rhee himself, approaching his 82d birthday on March 26, is as determined as ever to get the Communists out of North Korea one way or another, if necessary so that the promise of Korean freedom which came with the end of World War II may be fulfilled.

Only The North

Rhee also insists that if there is any election in Korea, it shall cover only the Communist - ruled northern part of the country.

Rhee's argument is that South Korea is a legally constituted country and already has a parliament elected by free vote. His idea is that North Korea should join South Korea

North Korea, with a population now estimated to total between three million and five million, is merely a puppet state under Chinese Communist occupation.

South Koreans charge that the Communists are deporting North Koreans to Manchuria and replacing them by Chinese with the idea of occupying the northern part of the country permanently. The number of Chinese immigrants is estimated to total as high as one million.

Rhee knows that his years are numbered, and his one ambition is to unify Korea by peaceful means or by war before he dies.

At the White House—

Social Season Is on

By MERRIMAN SMITH

WASHINGTON (UP) — Backstairs at the White House:

The revival of the custom of a White House social season stirs up a lot of memories, to say nothing of a lot of social strategy on the part of Washington hostesses. The ladies of the social set would happily give up their last Dior gowns to be invited to one of the White House dinners, but then they'd probably run right out and buy replacements.

Social seasons of the past have produced tragedies, banner headlines, thousands of sore feet and much joy for some.

Tragedy: A handsome young military attache of a foreign embassy was banished from his post and sent home in disgrace because of what happened at a White House reception some years back. His spurs caught in the filmy folds of the evening gown of a cabinet wife in the reception line and as he walked away, he unwittingly tore away a considerable portion of her costume.

Embarrassment: The panties of a distinguished Washington lady came unanchored and dropped to the floor of the stately main hall of the White House as she was proceeding in full dignity toward the East Room for an after-dinner musicale. She realized she'd lost something, but didn't dare attempt a retrieve. An alert member of the house staff spotted the panties resting on the red carpet and quickly jammed them in his pocket.

Banner Headlines: When the Franklin D. Roosevelts decided to serve beer at a reception shortly after repeal, temperance organizations howled in protest. But this did not deter the first family. Mrs. Roosevelt probably did more to warm up the archaic old mansion than any first lady in many years. She set the more dignified Washingtonians on their ears one night by leading a conga line-and well.

Although the dinners and receptions ostensibly are only for official figures in the government or the diplomatic corps, the Eisenhowers always include a few personal friends in each affair. These are the most treasured invitations in Washington and the gall of some people in attempting to get on an invitation list never fails to amaze some of the case-hardened personnel of the White House social office.

The inauguration has helped the sale of formal clothing locally, but the social season will help even more. All of the White House affairs are strictly formal — white tie and tails for the men, long evening dresses for the women.

There'll be a scattering of high silk hats, but mostly black homburgs which the President helped popularize at his first inauguration. The homburg fits in much better with the current fashion of low-slung automobiles.

The wife of William Henry Harrison, ninth President of the United States, never occupied the White House or served as First Lady. She was ill at the time of Harrison's inaugural and died one month later.

School Board Meets; Reports Are Discussed

Rostraver Township School Board held its regular monthly meeting at the new Junior High School Monday with President Henry Bush in charge.

The board decided to purchase a new hot water heater for the vocational shop and the band parents were given permission to use the Junior High gym for a band party on Feb. 9. New mats will be placed in the gym.

A transportation report was given and final reports were given on contract jobs for the new school. Bids were opened for fence for Lebanon School and then tabled. A guidance testing program will be held at the senior high school.

Residents of Fellsburg were given permission to use Fells School on Jan. 19 and the Parent-Teacher Association was granted use of the new Junior High School for a dinner.

Besides Bush, others present were Thomas Patterson, Rudolph Godzack, Sam Weightman and John Deter, directors; E. F. Carter, superintendent of schools, and Marian Driscoll, secretary.

Lions Hear Talk On Zoning Changes

The Rostraver Lions Club met Wednesday at Sweeney's. Henry Bush, president, conducted the meeting and the invocation was offered by William Heath. Thirty-five were present.

During the evening, Mr. Carter spoke on the proposed zoning ordinance for the township, followed by reports by the calendar committee and secretary.

The Missionary Society of the Harmony Church will hold an all-day quilting on Wednesday, Jan. 16.

Mrs. Mary Carnes, of R. D., Belle Vernon, who has been a patient in Charleroi-Monessen Hospital the past two weeks, was scheduled to undergo surgery today for a kidney ailment.

Mrs. Evelyn Brubaker, of Sweeney Plan, has been confined to her home the past week because of illness.

Mother Giraffe Dies Of Broken Heart

DETROIT (UP) — Months of grieving for her lost baby ended Wednesday for High Hat, a 14-foot giraffe at the Detroit Zoo, when she died of a broken heart.

Zoo officials said there was nothing organically wrong with High Hat. They said her death probably was caused by the long period of grieving for her baby which died in April, 1955.

"There's nothing you can do to heal a broken heart," an official said.

WHICH WOMAN PASSED THE N.P.* TEST?

*NINETY PERCENT

The poised, smartly-dressed woman at the right of course. You can tell at a glance and that's why the Ninety-Percent Test is so important. People judge you by what they see (sometimes that's all they have to go on) and ninety percent of what they see of you is what you wear. The fresh finish of drycleaned clothes is more than an extra touch like a flower in the buttonhole. It's an integral part of good grooming. The state of your clothes tells volumes about the kind of person you are. In fact, your clothes never stop talking about you.

You buy your clothes to make a good impression. As you wear them, have them drycleaned often. A smart woman takes care to keep that impression fresh.

Coal Miners in Hungary Demand Soviet Withdrawal

VIENNA (UP) — Rebellious Hungarian miners renewed demands today for the withdrawal of all Soviet armed forces from Hungary.

Restoration of coal production is a major factor in puppet Premier Janos Kadar's attempts to pull Hungary out of economic chaos. The government already has been forced to "draft" workers to dig the coal needed to get power-paralyzed factories working again.

Russian tank units moved across the center of the Hungarian capital after the curfew Thursday night. Reports from Budapest said there was no indication it was anything more than a shift from one barracks to another.

Reports reaching Vienna said workers at the key Tatabanya mines, 50 miles west of Budapest, listed the Russian troop evacuation demand in a resolution to the Soviet-imposed regime. The miners also demanded the withdrawal of armed Communist police guards from the pits.

The demands indicated the situation was not quite as rosy as the Kadar regime was tryingt o paint it for the outside world. The Red-controlled Budapest Radio made no mention of the continued passive resistance among the workers.

Pays $1,441.15 For Turkey at National Show

CINCINNATI, O. (UP)—Wilford Hatchery of Elyria, Ohio, today won the grand championship of the National Turkey Show and immediately sold the dresser gobbler for $1,441.15.

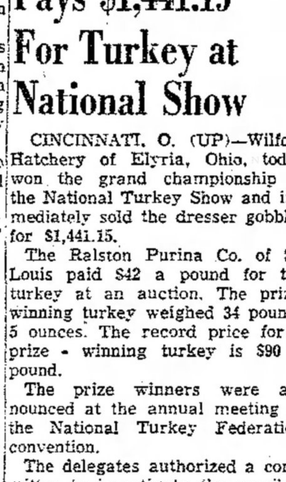
The Ralston Purina Co. of St. Louis paid $42 a pound for the turkey at an auction. The prize-winning turkey weighed 34 pounds 5 ounces. The record price for a prize - winning turkey is $90 a pound.

The prize winners were announced at the annual meeting of the National Turkey Federation convention.

The delegates authorized a committee to investigate the possibility of assessing turkey growers to raise a fund to promote turkey sales. These assessments, to set up a federal turkey marketing order, would require approval of Congress. Once the plan is drafted and approved by the organization's directors, it will be submitted to Congress.

Moves Next Door

LONDON (UP)—Moving into 10 Downing Street, the traditional home of the British prime minister, will be a simple—and short—maneuver for Harold Macmillan. As chancellor of the exchequer, Macmillan has been living next door at No. 11.



TO DIE TONIGHT — John Gilbert Graham, still calm and cooperative in his death cell, will pay with his life tonight for the bomb deaths of 44 persons aboard an airliner near Longmont, Colo., Nov. 1, 1955.

WHY? — Now serving a 10-year prison sentence, Orville E. Hodge, former Illinois state auditor, enters the Federal building in Chicago to be questioned by Federal Judge John P. Barnes, who wants to know why the state has been able to recover only $25,000 of the $2,500,000 that disappeared while Hodge was auditor.

Americans Buy Eight Million Copies of Bible Last Year

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UP) — Americans brought more than eight million copies of the Holy Bible last year — a new record for the best-selling book in history.

Publishers report that 1956 sales of the scriptures were up about 10 per cent from 1955, the previous record year. They attributed the increase to growing public interest in religion.

The King James Version easily held its place as the popular favorite. Its total sales, estimated by publishers at more than 6 million complete editions, far outstripped the sales of all other translations combined.

In second place, with sales nudging the million mark, was the new Revised Standard Version, published in 1952 under the sponsorship of the National Council of Churches. Thomas Nelson and Sons, publishers of the RSV, said 1956 sales climbed about 20 per cent, indicating a steady growth in popular acceptance.

15-Year Project

A committee of 32 famous scholars spent 15 years preparing the Revised Standard Version. Their aim was to produce a "readable" Bible in the language of today and to eliminate some of the misunderstandings which have resulted from changes in the accepted meanings of many English words since the King James Version was translated nearly four centuries ago.

Its sponsors hope and believe that the RSV eventually will replace the King James as the "standard" Protestant Bible in American homes. But the 1956 sales figures show that it still has a long way to go.

One reason was suggested by Dr. Paul K. Jewett, theology professor at Fuller Theological Seminary. Writing in a recent issue of the Protestant magazine, Christianity Today, Dr. Jewett said the King James Version is holding its place because of its "vastly superior literary quality."

Conceding that some of the language of the older version is "fast becoming archaic," Jewett said the "majestic music" of the King James translation has become so integral a part of the nation's cultural heritage that it will not easily be supplanted by a "compendium of scholarship" such as the RSV.

Publishers estimated 1956 sales of other Bible translations as follows:

Douay Version (the standard Bible for American Catholics), 750,000; Jewish Bibles, 70,000; modern translations, including Moffatt and Goodspeed, about 25,000.

Besides the complete Bibles sold through regular book channels, hundreds of thousands of Bibles are distributed free each year by such organizations as the American Bible Society and the Gideons.

PUC Orders New Lamps at Crossing

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Public Utility Commission today ordered amber - colored mercury lamps installed at the intersection of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad tracks with State Route 51 in Fallston, Beaver County.

The railroad was directed to install the lights but it will be reimbursed the $825 cost from public funds.

MHS Officials Devise Ticket Plan

Monessen High officials have devised a scheme designed to give loyal Greyhound fans the first crack at reserved seat tickets for the January 22 game with Charleroi. The ducats will go on sale tonight prior to, and between the halves of, the Monessen-California game. However the sale will be conducted in the gym corridor on the auditorium side. That means purchasers will first have to "buy" their way into the California game to get a chance at the coveted Charleroi tickets. Thus Monessen biggies figure they will first accommodate the loyal rooters who turn out regularly for games at the MHS floor.

* * *

Incidentally tonight's sale will be limited to a pair of tickets per customer. Only adults will be permitted to make purchases . . . Bob Hewitt, former Monessen High basketball great, has returned to duty with the Air Force. While home on furlough over the holidays, Bob made a real contender out of Big Five in the City Basketball League . . . Bellmar faculty-manager Bap Manzini ordered the gym doors locked shortly after 7 p. m. on the night of the basketball game with Monessen. At the time the floor was already jammed and Manzini was under orders to keep the stairways open in compliance with fire regulations.

* * *

Bright Outlook for MHS Tennis Team

Monessen High's tennis team won just two of six WPAL matches last season, but things may be different this year. Back again are the number one and two players, Joe Kurey and Jim Baker. Both developed considerably last summer. And, happily, both are just juniors . . . Recreation Department officials have warned City League basketballers to cut out the rough stuff. A couple of recent games ended in a maze of flying fists and elbows . . . Arch DiCenzio, former Monongahela High athlete, worked his first Monessen City League basketball game the other night. Arch's brother, Dick, is a member of the Viaduct entry.

* * *

In reply to a query, each player on the winning team earned $500 for his work in the Senior Bowl game at Mobile, Ala., the other day. The losers each picked up $400 . . . Jim Klisanin, the McKeesport product, was named to the All-Missouri Conference football team for three years running as a halfback at Wichita University. He'll pick up his degree this year and looks forward to a pro career . . . Fuzzy Anderson, the gangling pitcher with Monessen CIO, also tries his hand at basketball in the City League. Says Fuzzy: "I can put that little baseball right over the plate, but I can't get that big basketball in the basket. Maybe I'm not curving it enough."

* * *

DiBiaso Comes from Basketball Family

Dick DiBiaso, junior member of the current Monessen High basketball cast, comes by his floor talents honestly. His dad was a former Greyhound cager as well as uncles Richard and Nello . . . Jackie Brown, the Pirate farmhand pitcher from Elizabeth, won a game last season without delivering a single pitch to a batter. Jackie was pitching for Williamsport in the Eastern League and was called to the mound in a relief role with two out, two Allentown runners on base and his team trailing, 1-0. Jackie picked the runner off second base before throwing to a batter. He was replaced at bat during a three-run Williamsport rally in the last of the eighth and was awarded the victory.

Boxing Suffers Long Series of Blackeyes

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP)—The sands of Jacobs Beach were inundated today by the tears of the fight mob following a series of events which fractured the arches on every pair of blue suede shoes in Cauliflower Canyon.

In the busiest, and blackest, 24 hour period since the last 5 to 1 shot was beaten in a breeze, boxing reeled under these discouraging developments:

1. Iceland banned boxing.

2. Jake Lamotta, the Bronx bull was arraigned on a morals charge after allegedly mixing in among the calves.

3. Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson, a writer and-or fighter of little note, was arrested on charges of forging his driving license.

Mink Mating Season

4. Middleweight champion Gene Fullmer refused to fight Ray Robinson in March because it will be the mink mating season on his manager's Utah ranch.

5. Carmen Basilio, the welter king, "hoited" his hand and thus delayed his title bout with Johnny Saxton.

6. And heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson didn't even have a mother-in-law with whom to fight.

'It's gotta be a bum rap on Jake," quoth Murray the memory Goodman, a boxing publicist whose files are in his head. "Poisonally I happen to know that he ain't never had his champeenship belt off since the day he won it."

Guys And Gendarmes

The gloom thickened as they considered the ways of guys and gendarmes. Then came the voice of Manny the Musician, somewhat of a celebrity because he plays a mouth organ with his nose.

"Nor not even any fights," moaned Manny, tapping his harmonica listlessly against the palm of his hand. "Basilio has to bang up his pinky and who knows what the price will be by the time he's ready to go again. And the price on Patterson, now, wouldn't make it worth the walk over to the Garden even if there was somebody for him to box."

More nods. More gloom.

They broke up slowly, still mauling their cigar butts, and the voice of a pug pilot from Greenpoint floated back over the muttering:

"It's woiser," he said, "than the day one of my bums takes a dive without never tellin' me foist."

Two Sweeps in Furnace League

Steam Plant blanked Electrical and Pig Machine swept over Cast House in Blast Furnace Bowling League action last night.

In another match, Mechanical earned a pair from Blow Room.

Scoring leaders were Marvin Wargo, 208-534; Hank Mazur, 154-421; Steve Balko, 171-476; Bill Valko, 165-480; Fotey Loulis, 180-455; Bill Artis, 183-471.

Standings show Steam Plant, 8-1; Mechanical, 5-4; Electrical, 4-5; Pig Machine, 4-5; Cast House, 3-6; Blow Room, 3-6.

California Visits MHS Gym Tonight

Trojans Conceded Little Chance of Upsetting Hounds

Monessen High's tireless basketballers play host to California tonight at the MHS gym in quest of their third straight Section 5 win of the current season and their 37th in a row over a four year stretch.

And the Hounds are heavily favored to come through. Even the most cautious Monessen follower has found it hard to get excited about the visitors.

That fact, which might lead to overconfidence, is about the only thing which could make the game close. Statistically there's no comparison between the two teams.

True enough, California will come to town with a 1-0 league record. And you can't do better than that.

However the Trojans lost six of their seven exhibition games. Most of the setbacks were by whopping scores, too.

Year Away

Even California's frank coach, friendly Bill Watkins, concedes his team is "a year away." The squad is heavily burdened with sophomores.

Still a case can be made for the Californians if one stretches the imagination enough.

To begin with California will have a height advantage over the Hounds. Then, too, the Trojans will have two experienced players in Ewing Bell and Ken Kulak.

What, then, is the California defect? Scouts seem to feel that the club simply lacks overall balance. The Trojans have been making too many mistakes.

That, of course, is a defect which can be corrected. If the Trojans coaches have smoothed the rough spots, then Monessen might have its hands full this evening contrary to previous records.

Built Around Bell

The California attack is built around Bell, a 6-2 senior now in his third year as a regular. He missed some exhibition action, which accounts in part for the Trojans sad sack showing early in the year.

The other California veteran is Kulak, a 5-10 junior and great shotmaker.

Supplying the height along with Bell on the current club is Carmen Quasanella, a muscular 6-4 senior who nabs rebounds even if he isn't exactly graceful.

Doug Gasher, 5-11 workhorse, won a letter last season, which means that he knows his way around, too.

Completing the starting array is Nat Green, a 5-10 sophomore who promises to develop into one of California's finest.

Behind that starting quintet are a whole raft of sophomores. Thus the Trojans can't afford to lose anyone on fouls.

Monessen will open with its usual lineup: Frank Crisi, 6-0, and Dick DiBiaso, 6-1, at the forwards; Carl Crawley, 6-0 at center, and John Bogovich, 5-10, and Maurice Mathieu, 5-9, at the guards. The sixth man is Joe Kurey, 6-0.

The rollicking Hounds have won seven of 11 games overall this season.

LOS ANGELES: Larry Bataan, 124½, Manila, drew with Billy (Sweetpea) Peacock, 123, Los Angeles (10).

While he was President, Harry S. Truman logged more than 135,000 air miles in 61 presidential flights, a record for U. S. cheif executives.

Canes Seek First Win; Rostraver Plays at Home

Bellmar High's basketballers — still looking for their first Section 5 win of the season — will invade Donora tonight.

The Canes have dropped league games to both California and Monessen to date. Prior to that, they divided three of six non-league tests.

Thus the current Bellmar edition is hardly up to par. However there are those who feel Coach Jack Flora will still get his boys into a winning groove.

Donora has divided two league games. The Dragons nipped Monongahela but lost a close game at Brownsville.

In other Section 5 tussles this evening, Brownsville will go to Charleroi and California will appear at Monessen.

Cougars Favored

Charleroi, lopsided favorite to win Section 5 laurels this season, figures to have no trouble with visiting Brownsville. The Brownies have a 1-1 slate in WPIAL play.

Over in Section 10, Rostraver faces a big game. The Leps will play host to Ligonier.

The experts feel the race is so close this season that a contending team must not lose at home.

That means the pressure will be on Rostraver tonight. Ligonier will arrive with a pretty good team which dropped a close four point decision to Ramsay in its only league appearances.

Other Section 10 games will show Hurst at Scottdale and Dunbar at Derry Twp.

The Section 17 race will resume with hopefuls West Newton and Perryopolis colliding at the tiny Perry gym. The home floor advantage may be enough to swing that "tossup" game to the Commodores favor.

Other Games

In other tussles, Irwin will go to Sewickley and East Huntingdon will appear at South Huntingdon.

The Junior High front will be busy today, too. Monessen will play host to Washington in Section 3 this afternoon.

The Section 3 card will show Vernon at Carroll Twp. and Fallowfield at Marion.

Here's the way the Daily Independent sports department picks tonight's games:

California at MONESSEN (12)
Brownsville at CHARLEROI (18)
Bellmar at DONORA (8)
Hurst at SCOTTDALE (7)
Ligonier at ROSTRAVER (4)
Dunbar at DERRY TWP. (22)
E. Huntingdon at S. HUNTINGDON (6)
IRWIN at Sewickley Twp. (3)
West Newton at PERRYOPOLIS (4)

Season record: 56 right, 21 wrong.

McKay Romps In Bowling Play

McKay swept over the Lincoln Jets in No. 3 Maintenance Bowling League action last night.

Other matches found General Electric winning two from Walworth and Exweld taking a pair from Airco.

Top scorers were Nick Alatsis, 214-504; Joe Righetti, 157-401; Walter Wentzell, 175-504; Dom Bechione, 181-443; Pete Cipriani, 195-482; Sam Dominico, 160-421.

Standings show McKay, 37-14; General Electric, 29-22; Lincoln Jets, 25-26; Oxweld, 25-26; Airco, 21-30; Watworth, 16-35.

Pitt Wrestlers Beat Iowa State

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The University of Pittsburgh wrestling team scored a 17-8 victory over Iowa State Thursday night at the Pitt Fieldhouse.

The Panther grapplers won five matches and lost two and had a draw in the 123-pound class. No falls were registered.

O'Brien Begins Goodwill Tour

MANILA (UP) —World shot put champion Parry O'Brien opened his world-wide goodwill tour Thursday with a near - record performance. The husky Californian tossed the 16-pound shot 62 feet, 2 inches — exactly one foot short of his pending world mark.

Rostraver Juniors Beat Perryopolis

Rostraver Junior High won its second straight Section 3 basketball game yesterday by turning back Perryopolis, 45-25.

The smooth working Leps led all the way to post the easy win. Willie Ross had 14 to pace the victors.

Lineups follow:

Rostraver 45
Ahlborn, 3-1-7; Pierce, 3-0-6; Blic, 2-3-7: Peto, 1-0-2: Ross, 7-0-14; Zolack, 0-2-2; Pollins, 2-3-7. Totals, 18-9-45.

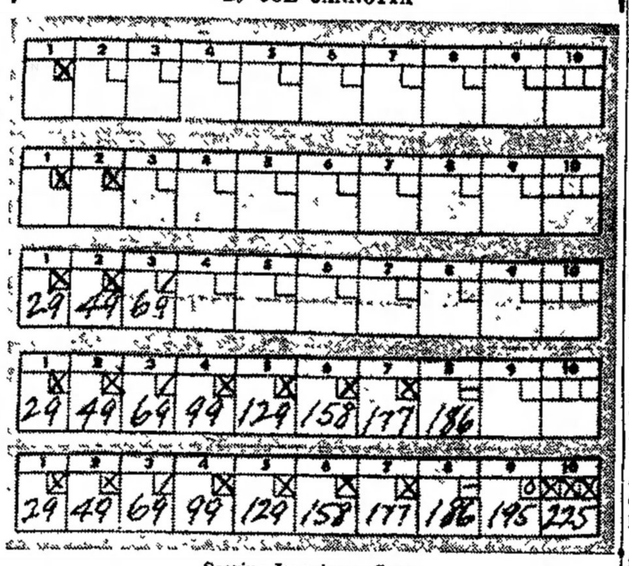
BOWLING

By JOE JANNOTTA



Scoring Imaginary Game

In our last column, we explained the system used to score bowling Today let us follow an imaginary game with the accompanying illustration to better understand the scoring technique

In our first frame, we have spilled all of the pins with one ball for a strike So we mark an (x) in the little box as noted in the top line of the illustration

In our second frame, we get another strike So we mark another (x). However up to this point we have not filled in numerical totals for the frames Remember a strike entitles you to ten plus the next two balls

Let us proceed to the third frame where we knock down nine pins with the first ball and one with the second We have spared. Now our score in the first frame is 29 (10 plus 10, plus 9). Our score in the second frame is 49 (29 plus 10, plus 9, plus 1) This scoring is presented in the third line of the illustration.

Let us now suppose that from the fourth frame through the seventh, we warm up and score strikes Our numerical score is 129 in the fifth frame (69 plus 10, plus 10, plus 10, for 99 in frame 4 And 99 plus 10, plus 10, plus 10, for frame five, etc).

In the eighth frame, we get nine pins with the first ball in our imaginary game, but miss the lone pin with the second ball It is an error and our score is 186 in the eighth frame (the fifth frame's 129 plus 29 in the sixth, plus 19 in the seventh and 9 in the eighth)

We strike in the tenth frame That entitled us to two additional balls to be rolled immediately. We strike with both of these Our total score is then 225 (195 plus 10) for each of the tenth frame strike balls we rolled If we spare in the tenth frame, we are entitled to one more ball and its pinfall.

Baker Takes on Carter Tonight

NEW YORK (UP) — It's "win or goodbye" for Big Bob Baker tonight

The plodding Pittsburgh veteran meets young Harold Carter of Linden, N. J. at Madison Square Garden in a heavyweight contenders' fight, televised and broadcast nationally by NBC

"And if Baker doesn't win this one," said Manager Dusty Bettor today, "I'll suggest he retire, and I'll definitely leave him. It'll be goodbye, as far as I'm concerned"

The pilot added hopefully, "But I have a feeling he'll finally catch fire and belt the daylights out of Carter"

His hopes were not shared by betting men They made 22-year-old Carter the favorite at 9-5 because he is ranked third, three notches above 30-year-old Baker. Also because the young New Jersey Sunday School teacher was impressive in his last three starts, with a knockout over Bob Satterfield and decisions over Johnny Summerlin and young Jack Johnson.

Top-Rated

Baker, a burly ex-weightlifter who once was the top-rated contender, had but three bouts in 1956 and lost two of them on split decisions to the now top-ranked Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson. Big Bob's lethargy contributed almost as much to those defeats as Jackson's windmill flailing In his other bout last year, he outpointed Johnny Holman.

He was originally scheduled to fight young Carter at the Garden Nov. 16, but Baker withdrew because of the flu; and their 10-rounder was postponed to tonight. Young Jack Johnson of Los Angeles substituted against Carter on Nov. 16 Carter won a lop-sided decision.

Fair Puncher

Each principal tonight is a fair puncher. Carter's 21-2-2 record includes 10 knockouts Baker's 45-7-1 list includes 19 kayoes. Carter was stopped once, by Wayne Bethea (7) in 1954. And his only other defeat was on a decision to Johnny Summerlin in their first bout last year

Baker was stopped three times—by Clarence Henry, Bob Satterfield and Archie Moore. His other four defeats were on decisions.

Big Bob was surprisingly buoyant today. He said. "I'm goin' out there tonight and cut loose. I know he'll come at me, and I'll meet him half way. I've got to win this one because I want a title shot this year."

Viaduct Nears City Loop Lead

Lutes Boys Score 10th Win in Row

Viaduct moved to within a half game of the pace-setting Cro-Ams last night in City Basketball League action by beating East End, 64-48.

The win was the tenth straight for Coach Bucky Lutes dribblers Their only lose was in the season opener to the undefeated Cro-Ams

In other games last night Fuocos nipped the Cips, 35-31, and the Ozarks hammered the Yellow Jackets, 54-29.

Viaduct and East End played on fairly even terms for three periods. Once the losers pulled within five points of Viaduct late in the third stanza.

Eventually Pull Away

However the poised students of Lutes eventually pulled away with something to spare.

Mike Young was high for the winners with 18 points. Al Zyga chipped in with 15. For East End, Ed Burdock had 17.

Fuocos and Cips staged a real thriller all the way. The Fuocos edged ahead in the second period at 15-13 and they stayed in front from then on But never more than a few points separated the teams.

Harris Scores 10

Wally Harris tossed in 10 points for the Fuocos while Zeke Zilka had nine for the losers.

The Ozarks had no trouble with the Yellow Jackets despite a slow start

Ed Sanc led the way with 16 points Nick Rullo and Vaughn Wilkins each had eight for the Jackets.

Pitt Tallies Easy Win over Bucknell

By UNITED PRESS

The University of Pittsburgh scored an easy 64-49 win over Bucknell Thursday night. St. Vincent and Westminster also advanced with easy victories.

Sophomore Don Hennon, who tallied 18 points, led the Panther attack against an outmanned Bucknell team, which never did get its offensive into high gear, at the Pitt Field House. The victory was the eighth in 13 outings for the Panthers and only the second defeat in 11 games for the Bisons.

Pitt's John Riser scored 14 points while Harold Danzig with 13 was the only Bison to hit for double figures.

Four St. Vincent players teamed up for 82 points between them to lead the Bearcats to a 101-92 victory over Indiana State Teachers at Latrobe.

Harry Folk led the St. Vincent attack with 23 points, Dick Sweeney had 22, Dale Willison 19 and John Skeels 18. Joe DeLise of the Indians led all scorers with 28 points while teammate Jim Kimbrough tallied 15.

Riley Scores 28

Jim Riley scored 28 points and George Strehler 23 to give Westminster a 93-84 victory over Juniata, the host team. It was the Titans' fifth victory in eight starts and Juniata's fifth loss against three defeats.

Bernie McLaughlin with 24 and Bill Burchfield with 20 paced the Juniata attack.

In another game, the Steubenville Barons avenged their only loss of the season Thursday night by handing Central State of Wilberforce, Ohio, a 71-62 defeat at Steubenville.

Jack Cibulka led the Barons with 19 points and his teammate Frank Sapienza carded 18. Phil Payne with 23 and Elzie Lewis with 14 paced Central.

Steubenville, which had lost to Central last month, is now 9-1 for the season.

Grove City Wins

Grove City defeated Clarion Teachers, 76-73, at Grove City in another district encounter. Dick Danielson led Clarion with 28 points, while Gary Peters and Jim McElrath led Grove City with 18 and 17 points, respectively.

Tonight's district card is somewhat limited with the only big game on tap a return meeting between the Duquesne Dukes and the Cincinnati Bearcats. The Dukes are out for revenge since the Bearcats handed the Pittsburghers a 90-79 defeat last Saturday in Cincinnati.

In other games, tonight, Edinboro plays at California Teachers and Thiel visits Allegheny. Westminster meets St. Joseph in the opener of a doubleheader in the Philadelphia Palestra. St. Francis of Loretto meets Temple in the nightcap.

Celebrities Tee Off in Crosby Golf Tournament

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (UP)— The biggest all-charity event in the world of golf got under way here today when the nation's top touring professionals teed off with celebrities from entertainment and sports in the annual $15,000 Bing Crosby Pro-Amateur Tournament

Dr Cary Middlecoff, the defending champion and the current National Open king, is rated as the man to beat—but no matter how the golf comes out, charity will be the winner.

This is Crosby's special event, and he picks up the check for all the costs, including the prize money, housing for the professionals, etc. Every cent taken in at the gate goes to charity.

But, as usual, the weather man stands in the way The forecast has been for rain for the weekend—which is about par for the course for this time of year on the Monterey Peninsula.

The list of "greats" at this tourney can't be found anywhere else It includes:

Military: Three generals· Omar Bradley, E K Timberlake and Bob McClure.

Stage and Screen: Bob Hope, Bob Sterling, Phil Harris, Buddy Rogers, Lex Barker, Richard Arlen, Guy Madison, Freeman Gosden, Randolph Scott. Dean Martin Bob Crosby, Dennis O'Keefe and John Weissmuller.

Baseball: Dizzy Dean, Bob Lemon Jerry Priddy and Ralph Kiner.

Football: Coach Red Sanders of UCLA, Otto Graham, ex-Cleveland Browns; and John Brodie, Stanford quarterback star.

Golf: Five former National Open champions Gene Sarazen Ed Furgol, Jack Fleck, Lloyd Mangrum and Byron Nelson, plus the current Open king, Middlecoff; the current National Amateur champion. Harvie Ward, plus former amateur kings Marvin (Bud) Ward and Gene Littler; the current Masters and PGA champion, Jackie Burke, etc

Doby Quickly Agrees To White Sox Terms

By UNITED PRESS

Larry Doby, still the chief power hitter of Chicago White Sox despite a batting decline in 1956, readily accepted an offer of the same salary for 1957 today and told Sox officials he feels "stronger."

The 32-year-old center fielder was something of a disappointment in '56 after being acquired from Cleveland to supply punch in the batting order.

The larruping lefty-hitter led the club in runs-batted-in with 102, but his home run production fell from 26 to 24 and his batting average dropped down the elevator shaft from .291 to 268 Even so, in addition to RBI's, he led the club in homers and bases on balls.

Didn't Argue

Doby "didn't argue at all" when offered the same salary, said a Sox official In Paterson, N J, Doby said he was taking gym workouts and added. "I feel stronger than I have for a couple of years"

Warren Hacker 32-year-old righthander acquired by Cincinnati from the Chicago Cubs in the five-man deal this winter, became the 17th Redleg to sign for '57 and said he's "tickled to death to be with a ball club like the Reds for this year."

The Redlegs are counting heavily on Warren to supply some of the pennant pitching they need to go with their home run power. Plagued by an injured foot he says now is cured, Hacker won only three games in '56 but looks for a return to his 1952 mark of 15 wins.

A jarring note to the contract parade came from Baltimore where outfielder Bob Neiman, the American League's fifth best batter last year with a 320 average, balked at signing the first contract mailed him.

Neiman said the pact called for only an "inconsequential" raise and added, "I think my performance last year merited me a $30,000 salary and I think I have a chance of getting it"

Seek Warrant Against Green

SCRANTON, Pa. (UP) — U. S. Attorney J. Julius Levy said a bench warrant for the arrest of Congressman William Green of Philadelphia would be sought here today from U. S. District Judge John Murphy.

The warrant for Green, indicted in the federal grand jury investigation of fraud in construction of the multi-million dollar Signal Corps Depot at nearby Tobyhanna was to have been served earlier. It was held in abeyance while he took his oath of office in Washington for his fourth term in Congress.

Green, the Democratic city chairman of Philadelphia, was charged with illegally using his influence as a congressman in the awarding of certain contracts at the Pocono Mountain depot.

Youth Chosen 'Star Farmer' Of Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Farm Show Commission announced today that a 20-year-old Susquehanna County youth has won the "State Star Farmer of Pennsylvania" award, the highest honor given to Future Farmers of America on the state level.

John A. Brown, of Susquehanna RD, will receive the award during the annual meeting of the state Future Farmers organization here Jan. 16 held in conjunction with the Farm Show.

Brown, a 1955 honor graduate of the Thompson-Starrucca-Ararat Joint High School, won the Keystone state FFA honor by posting the highest score among the nominees in scholarship, agriculture and leadership. He has a dairy herd of 14 milk cows and produces grain and hay crops. The youth also was chosen Star Farmer for the Northeastern Pennsylvania area. Other regional Star Farmers were:

Southeastern—Forrest C. Laudenslager, 17, New Tripoli; South Central, Paul T. Saylor, 17, Beavertown; Southwestern, Harold E. Hay, 18, Berlin RD 4, and Northwestern, Richard Yatian, 17, Sharon RD 2.

Bloom Charges Clark Failed In First Move

HARRISBURG (UP)—Republican State Chairman George I. Bloom charged today that newly elected Democratic U.S. Sen. Joseph S. Clark failed to attend a key session of the Senate on civil rights.

Bloom said that Sen. James Eastland (D-Miss.) whom he termed the "leader of anti-civil rights legislation," was seeking chairmanship of the Senate Judiciary Committee on Wednesday.

He said the only protest against Eastland's nomination came from an Illinois senator who said that Pennsylvania's new Democratic senator would have voted with him if Clark had been present.

"Clark paved the road to Washington with pledges to fight for civil rights and countless other noble aims," Bloom said. "Yet, when this opportunity came to strike a blow for civil rights, his Senate seat was empty."

Clark made absenteeism on the part of his opponent, former Sen. James H. Duff, a key issue in his election campaign last fall.

Scout Troop Holds Meeting

Girl Scouts of Troop 6 met last night at the Girl Scout Little House on Speer street and the session began with the horseshoe circle and the pledge of allegiance. The girls also sang "The Star Spangled Banner".

Jolinda Pinciaro conducted the business meeting and plans were made to take part in the annual Mother-Daughter banquet on Feb. 25 at the First Methodist Church.

The camping date was set for Laurel Hill Camp Site, June 7, 8 and 9.

Michael Mutich Reelected to Head Road Supervisors

Michael Mutich was reelected chairman of the Washington Township Board of Road Supervisors at the annual reorganization meeting held at the Marion School.

Charles Pabis was reelected secretary-treasurer and roadmaster. Mutich was appointed to have charge of township police.

The Belle Vernon office of the Western Pennsylvania National Bank was retained as depository. John E. Costello was retained as solicitor.

It was voted to increase the wages of township employes from $1 to $1.25 per hour and the foreman, Charles Davis, received a wage increase from $1.50 to $1.75 per hour. The board secretary's compensation remained the same.

Edwards avenue from Center street to Otto street has been taken into the township system and the board has requested the state to take over Cook's road which is Township route 428 and the Mikula-Gillock road, Township route 837.

Action was taken on the resolution designating Fayette County Development Council as the Industrial Devlopment Agency for Fayette County.

The second Tuesday of each month at 7:30 was designated as regular meeting nights.

Week of Prayer Classes Tonight

The final service of the Week of Prayer observance will be held tonight at 7:30 in the First Baptist Church. The Rev. David Hunter, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of McClellandtown, will deliver his final sermon as the guest speaker in the series, which has been well received by members of the local Protestant churches.

Mr. Hunter is also well known as a vocalist and he will sing a spiritual, "There Will Be Peace in the Valley for Me".

Millicent Steen will also present a vocal solo.

The series of services began Tuesday evening and was sponsored by the Belle Vernon Ministerium.

Mrs. Lehew to Head Campaign

Mrs. Donald Lehew has been named chairman of the March of Dimes drive in the borough of Belle Vernon, which will be conducted in conjunction with the Fayette County collection.

Mrs. Lehew will receive individual and organization contributions and has also planned a record hop and a card party to raise money for this purpose. The dates for the events will be announced.

The record hop will be at the Italian Hall on Market street and the card party will be at the American Legion Home. Proceeds of the card party will be divided between the polio drives in Westmoreland and Fayette Counties.

Building Reports at Bellmarette Meeting

Additional reports were given on the proposed additions to Bellmar High School and Marion Junior High School and many building details were decided upon at the January meeting of the Bellmarette Joint School Board in the Bellmar High School library.

President Blandon Bulger was in charge and all members of the Belle Vernon and North Belle Vernon School Boards were present. Attending from Washington Township were Bulger, John Kasuda, Richard Hamer and Leo Valdiserri and from Fayette City, James Bulger, Charles Lakel, Bernard Sarra and George Hancock.

Bellmarette Supervising Principal Robert VanBremen, Elementary Supervisor Joseph Brisbane and Solicitor John E. Costello also attended along with the two architects C. C. Compton and E. E. Compton, of Donora.

Since no component board action was taken on the following matters, the car expense increase for maintenance man, George Karp; the solicitor's fee for work on the building program and the increase in salary for Basketball Coach Jack Flora, since he has assumed charge of the junior varsity team as well as varsity this year, all were approved by the board members.

Bulger suspended business in order to open bids for core test borings at the Bellmar High School building site. Equipment and Supplies, Inc. of Pittsburgh, were low bidders and received the contract.

Special Building Committee Chairman J. E. Kuhn reported that core testing at the Marion site is completed and sub-surface is found satisfactory. It was also recommended that the board secure both joint bids and separate bids on the two building projects. This was approved.

Kuhn reported on a meeting attended by administrators of the two buildings concerned, Bellmar High Principal Raymond Barker and Marion Principal Harold Underwood along with Van Bremen and Architect E. E. Compton. The men went over the entire plans of the two additions and various suggested changes were made in the temporary plans. These were approved by the building committee and Joint Board.

Accepting the building committee's recommendation that the board decide on certain building details it was voted to have gas heating systems in the two additions, fluorescent lighting in all classrooms and the music room with other types of lighting in the gymnasium and hallways. The installation of electric stoves and cooking appliances for the two cafeterias was approved.

The architect submitted the estimated cost of work to be done on the old buildings and this will be deducted from the appraisal to be conducted by a group of appraisers.

The joint board committees elected the following chairmen. Dr. Harold Underwood, athletic; Leo Valdiserri, buildings and grounds; Carmine Natalini, supplies and equipment; Gerald Stanley, transportation and Kuhn, personnel and finance.

Bulger announced there will be no change in the special building committee and James Hamer was retained as chairman of the administration committee.

The personnel and finance committee acting on a recommendation from North Belle Vernon Board asked the approval of Joseph Ambrose as custodian of Bellmar High School replacing the retired David Albright. This was approved and Mrs. Ambrose was also approved as assistant.

The board accepted the resignation of Raymond Hough, custodian at Marion Grade School, and the Washington Township Board will recommend a replacement. Several applications were received for cafeteria work and these were tabled until needed.

The applications of Gertrude Stankovics as a substitute or full time teacher in the elementary division and Edward Kuhn for full or part time teaching duties were received. Since the commercial vacancy at the High School could not be filled VanBremen was instructed to use a qualified substitute.

Brisbane reported on the book survey conducted in the elementary schools and gave a summary of the achievement tests taken in various schools. He recommended the admission of a nine year old girl from Italy in the local schools for the second semester. He also reported on a science meeting held by elementary teachers of North Belle Vernon and Belle Vernon, who will make a recommendation concerning books to be used.

Acting on the recommendation of VanBremen and Barker the board voted that elementary students must be accompanied by adults to attend the High School basketball games.

A report was given by VanBremen concerning the breakage of windows at Bellmar High School over the past several weeks and it was decided to turn the matter over to Police Chief M. E. Anthony.

VanBremen also reported on a secondary book survey and named the following department faculty chairmen, Ruth Frost, English; Mrs. Hazel Hixenbaugh, social studies; Dave McCully, science; Elizabeth Stimmel, mathematics. The driver's training appropriation to the district was received from the state.

A letter was read from Fayette City Council concerning loading of students on the school buses in the town, VanBremen, Bap Manzini and the transportation committee will meet with council to discuss this problem.

VanBremen announced that five Bellmarette students will attend the Russell Sipe Memorial Band Festival at Rostraver Junior High School, Jan. 24 and 25; four will attend All Western District Junior High Band at Park Terrace Junior High, Feb. 1: two will attend All Western District H. S. Band at Uniontown, Feb. 14, 15 and 16 and the school will be represented at Fayette County H. S. Band at Connellsville.

Frances Lautch and Cherie Nogy, Tri-Hi-Y officers will attend the U. N. Assembly for Tri-Hi-Y at Harrisburg, Mar. 15 and 16.

Due to rising costs in the year book the directors were informed each will be assessed the approved cost of the book.

VanBremen announced that five week notices have been sent out to parents of children, whose work is below par. He also reported that the building appraisal in connection with the new project will be made in January.

The board received a letter of thanks for a Christmas party put on at the Protestant Home for Children by members of the Bellmar Student Council and sponsor, Dorothy Gorio. Last year the group entertained at a Catholic Home.

Girl Scouts in Election Here; Plan Banquet

The election of officers was conducted when Intermediate Girl Scout Troop 30 met for the first session of the new year at the Girl Scout Little House. The meeting opened with the flag ceremony led by Judy Cecarelli with Nancy Reed and Wilma Toth, color guards and Patty Teska and Diane Mobley, flag bearers.

Patty Teska was elected leader of Patrol One, Wilma Toth, assistant leader; Judy Cecarelli, treasurer; Barbara Toth, telephone chairman; Patty Schwartz, birthday chairman; Judy Berg, camp fund chairman.

Martha Kane will be troop publicity chairman.

The troop will participate in the Mother-Daughter banquet on Feb. 25.

Future badge work was discussed and the meeting closed with Indian Taps. Mrs. Helen Schwartz and Kass Swartz are the troop leaders.

Marion Canteen Dance Tonight

Dancing tonight at the Marion Junior High School canteen dance will be to recorded music and will be for 10, 11 and 12 grade students. The affair will be conducted from 8 p. m. until 10:30 p. m. under the sponsorship of the Washington Township Parent Teacher Association.

There will be prizes and the canteen chairman, Lawrence Weaver will be in charge.

Lynnwood Church Ladies Aid Society Meets on Wednesday

The Ladies Aid Society of the Lynnwood Lutheran Church met on Wednesday evening at 7:30 in the social rooms of the church with the new president, Mrs. Emil Revala, in charge.

The devotional program was arranged around a missionary theme and those taking part were Mrs. Andrew Kuhl, Mrs. Charles Nalepa, Mrs. William Pierotti, Mrs. Joseph Uritzie, Mrs. John Greuser and Mrs. Harold Heffner.

Mrs. John Wagner, retiring president, announced that the new officers will be formally installed at the morning worship service on Jan. 20.

A bakeless bake sale was planned as the fund raising project for this month and contributions can be sent to Mrs. John Klanchar at 204 Grove avenue.

Mrs. Kuhl announced that the next Monongahela Valley Mission Study Class for Lutheran church women will be held at Grace Lutheran Church of Monongahela, on Friday, Mar. 1, at 7:30.

Routine reports were given by Mrs. Harold Heffner, secretary and Mrs. John Klanchar, treasurer. Mrs. Revala reported on the flower fund and named Mrs. John Greuser flower fund chairman for 1957.

Mrs. Wilfred Taylor was welcomed into the group as a new member.

A social hour followed and Mrs. Nalepa and Mrs. Revala served luncheon.

Mrs. Clinton Manown and Mrs. Jack Manown were named hostesses for the Feb. 13 meeting. It was also announced that the women of the church were asked to assist the aid members in preparing the new parsonage for occupancy on Jan. 28 and 29 and anyone interested is to go to the home at 9 o'clock in the morning.

The women also signed a card for Mrs. Clinton Manown, who is hospitalized.

New Pastor at Lynnwood Church

The Rev. James Percy, who has been serving as pastor of the Lutheran Church of Coudersport, has accepted a call to serve as pastor of the Lynnwood Lutheran Church and he is expected to assume his duties shortly after Feb. 1.

The Lynnwood Church has been without the services of a pastor, since the Rev. Warren Upton left a few months ago to accept another pastorate.

The congregation has purchased a residence on Washington road for a parsonage and it is expected that Mr. Percy and his family will move into it sometime between Feb. 3 and 10.

The Belle Vernon Camera Club will meet tonight in regular session and officers for 1957 will be installed. The print of the year contest will be conducted and movies will be shown.
